Kennedy, Aides Confer on Weapons Tests After Moscow's Move to Scrap Moratorium

Red Move Stuns Free Of World

Ruthless Step: Stockholm Paper

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union's decision to resume nuclear tests produced stunned and bitter reaction in non-Communist capitals today.

A spokesman for the British Foreign Office said that if the Kremlin carries out its threat, "We shall be astonished at such a retrograde step."

Ridiculous Blame

Noting that no warning of the move had appeared at Wednesday's session of the Geneva test ban talks, the spokesman said: "It is ridiculous to put the blame on the Western powers."

Editorial comment in Europe's morning papers was sparse because of the late hour of the announcement. But the news leaped to the top of most front pages.

The chief U.S. delegate to the Geneva talks, Arthur H. Dean, said the Soviet Union had "given clear evidence it is no longer interested in a test ban treaty."

"Its statement that it will accept a test ban treaty after general and complete disarmament is, of course, a fraud," said Dean as he prepared to return to Washington.

In Geneva, the U.S. and British delegations announced that the next meeting of the test ban conference, originally set for Friday, has been suspended until further notice.

Deputies Stay Behind

The chief British delegate, David Ormsby-Gore, also is returning to his capital, but both he and Dean were leaving deputies behind. A Soviet spokesman said the Soviet delegate, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, who declined to make any statement to newsmen, does not plan to leave Geneva.

Britain's foreign secretary, Lord Home, returned to London from vacation to begin studying the Soviet announcement. Prime Minister Harold Macmillan continues his vacation in Scotland. Home and Macmillan were expected to get in touch by telephone to discuss whether Britain would also resume nuclear blasts, which she had suspended along with the United States during the Geneva negotiations.

In a rare move, Home personally issued a statement branding the Soviet decision "shocking, contentious and cynical." He accused the Soviets of never negotiating seriously with the Americans and British on a test ban.

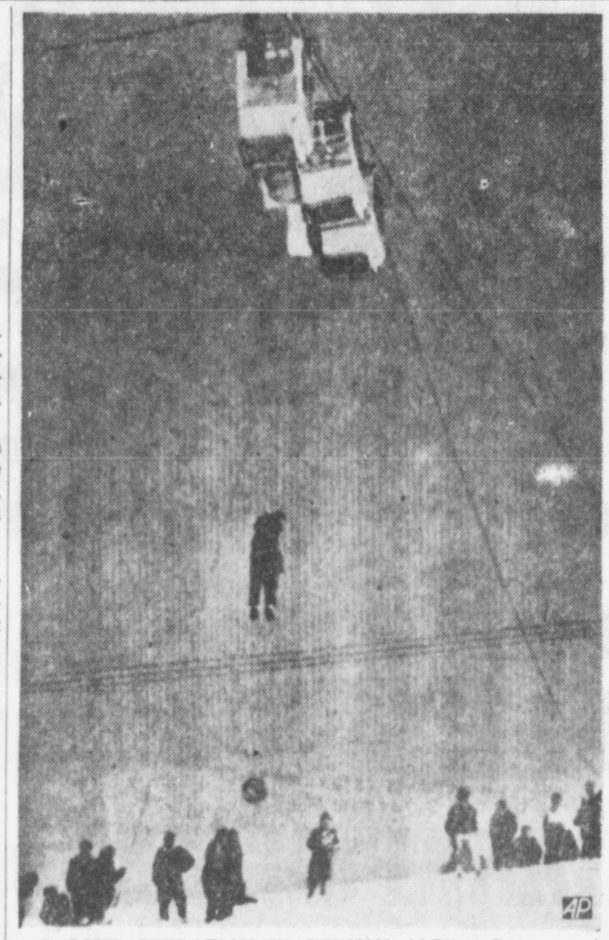

Sees Intimidation Policy

France accused the Soviet Union of trying to browbeat the West into submission on Berlin and Germany with the resumption of nuclear tests. A Foreign Ministry official said the Soviet Union is following a "policy of intimidation."

A French official said Moscow's contention that it had to resume testing because of France's testing of atomic weapons was "a real defiance of good sense and truth." One official said President Charles de Gaulle himself had said the French program was only a "modest" one.

The Dutch government expressed "serious regrets" at the Soviet decision and said "world opinion will be deeply shocked."

$50,000 Survey on Shelf

One Report on Welfare Called 'Not Relevant'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A report of findings of a $50,000 survey of welfare problems in New York State is gathering dust while Gov. Rockefeller and other public officials plan new studies.

The report was compiled by a management-consultant firm, Cresap, McCormick and Paget of New York City, under orders of a legislative subcommittee.

Recommends More Control

The consultants, in their report early this year, recommended tighter control by the governor's office over welfare operations, more freedom for local welfare districts and greater emphasis on rehabilitation to make relief-recipients self-supporting.

The Legislature rejected practically all the recommendations, many because they involved political problems.

After Rockefeller's order Wednesday for a new, $100,000 survey, a spokesman said the consultants' report "just isn't relevant."

No Connection

The spokesman said the earlier survey was strictly a legislative affair and had no connection with the Executive Department.

A spokesman for Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney said that the findings of the earlier survey were not primarily a legislative matter but administrative problems for the State Social Welfare Department. The survey was the first such broad review in the last decade, during which relief

Decision Reserved On Primary Ballot Argument Here

Decision was reserved Wednesday by Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein in election matters which involved getting Liberal Party candidates on the Primary ballot. Under applications made to Justice Bookstein, petitioners sought to have an open Primary at which the Liberal Party candidate names to appear on the November election ballot could be determined.

Involved is the designation of Liberal Party candidates in the City of Kingston for mayor, alderman-at-large and city judge as well as designations for supervisor and alderman in certain wards of the city. Also before Justice Bookstein was the question of placing the names of Re-

Study Is Under Way Of Tunnels

Iron Mt. System Sought for Here

On this day when Russia continues shouting to the world that it moves to produce the highest potential in nuclear destruction, a group of local officials toured the impervious vaults of Iron Mountain on the other side of the Hudson to gain such knowledge as might be helpful in building a similar stronghold in Kingston's downtown caves.

The great underground installation at Linlithgo, Columbia County, was built some 10 years ago by Knaust Brothers, Inc., area mushroom growers, and a firm whose members had spent much time under ground before giving a first serious thought to Iron Mountain as a depository for valuables and documents of record.

Those Making Study

On the tour of its facilities today were Mayor Edwin F. Radel, a special Common Council committee, Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, Charles Arnold, local deputy defense director, and Deputy City Clerk Walter S. Foster. The Common Council committee is composed of Aldermen Donald M. Hastings (D), third Ward, chairman; Lawrence E. Woerner (D), Fourth Ward, and Edward J. Schrowang (R), First Ward.

A recently reported facility at Iron Mountain, was the installation of a nuclear fallout filter system to permit breathing free from contamination inside the caverns.

Corridors of the underground system are some 250 feet deep in the earth with vaults and other storage areas reached through a 28-ton steel door of intricate mechanism.

List of Deposits

Operator of this vast safe deposit system is the Iron Mountain Atomic Storage Corp., headed by Herman Knaust. Represented in storage now are some 500 banks, insurance companies, other firms and individuals. Vaults range in size from six to 15,000 cubic feet, and reported in storage are 200,000 rolls of microfilm, boxes of motion picture film, rows of filing cabinets and valuable works of art.

Stored at one time, it was noted, were paintings with a total value of $15,000,000.

Hopeful About Trip

The local group was hopeful of returning here with important information as to development of the interior along with other ideas which might be helpful in developing and stocking abandoned downtown limestone caves, which have been used during the past several years for mushroom growing.

Warren Knaust reported here in 1951 that some 80 acres of caves could be made available for defense purposes, and The Freeman learned last year that

Juvenile Actor Drowns in Pool Near Hyde Park

An 11-year-old actor in "Raisin in the Sun" at Hyde Park Playhouse, accidentally drowned Wednesday at 1:15 p. m. in a pool near the theatre on the former Vanderbilt estate.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan identified him as Eryck Washington, a son of Vernon and Marian Washington, 140 Washington Walk, Brooklyn. The boy's father also is in the play. His mother was in New York City at the time of the tragedy.

Quinlan said the boy and his father went to the pool and and shortly after 1 p. m. Washington left to go to a cottage to get his bathing trunks after cautioning the boy not to go in the water in his absence.

Washington told authorities he returned in about 10 minutes and saw his son on the bottom of the pool, in eight feet of water and took the body from the pool.

Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation efforts failed. Hyde Park firemen were summoned and made futile atempts to revive the boy.

Dr. William Thompson, Rhinebeck, assistant medical examiner went to the scene. He later gave a verdict of accidental drowning due to asphyxiation.

St. John Has Post Sterley Held in GOP

Resignation of John B. Sterley, former Ulster County surrogate judge, as City Chairman of the Republican party, was announced today by Kenneth L. Wilson, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

In making public the resignation of Judge Sterley, which was submitted to County Chairman Wilson on Wednesday, Mr. Wilson also announced the appointment of Howard St. John as acting city chairman of the Republican party.

Kramer Remaining

St. John is a former Ulster County district attorney and will serve with Berhardt S. Kramer, assistant city chairman, in directing the activities of the Republican party in the city.

St. John's vast experience in political and civil life eminently qualifies him to carry on the duties of this important office, Wilson said.

Full Time for Loan

Full time devotion to the duties as president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, which recently opened a new branch at Hyde Park, compelled Judge Sterley to relinquish his city chairman position, he said.

In submitting his resignation, Judge Sterley wrote:

Busy at Loan

"It is with sincere regret that I find it imperative to submit my resignation as city chairman of the Republican Party at this time. As you know the bank with which I am associated has recently opened a branch in Hyde

World Holocaust Dangers Boosted, JFK Says in Denouncing Red Step

Dean Recalled From Geneva, President Orders 24-Hour Emergency Meetings; Plans for Immediate Resumption

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy set up emergency conferences today with top diplomatic, military and congressional leaders to consider urgent resumption of U.S. nuclear weapons testing in view of the Soviet Union's bombshell decision to scrap the three-year-old test moratorium.

Action came quickly after Moscow broadcast news of the decision which apparently caught Washington and other world capitals by surprise.

Kennedy issued a statement denouncing the Soviet step as a blow to worldwide hopes for disarmament and a "threat to the entire world by increasing the dangers of a thermo-nuclear holocaust."

He called Ambassador Arthur H. Dean home from nuclear test ban treaty negotiations with the Soviet Union at Geneva.

And word went out from the White House that in the next 24 hours the President wanted policy meetings with his defense, atomic energy and State Department advisers and with congressional chieftains.

"The termination of the moratorium on nuclear testing by the Soviet unilateral decision," the President said, "leaves the United States under the necessity of deciding what its own national interests require."

No Specific Word

The statement did not forecast specific U.S. counter action. But it was learned that the administration has plans ready and preparations made for a quick resumption of testing if Kennedy gives the order.

The Soviet move, coming in the midst of the Berlin crisis, struck top Washington officials as a highly significant turn for the worse in Soviet policy toward the rest of the world with these immediately predictable results:

1. It will produce a new burst of effort by the big powers in the nuclear arms race, especially as the Moscow announcement spoke of developing a 100-megaton bomb (a force equivalentto 100 million tons of TNT).

Danger of Clash Now

2. It means an intensification of the Berlin dispute with its danger of a military clash in Germany that could lead to nuclear war.

3. It torpedoes the Geneva conference on a nuclear test ban treaty. The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union opened the conference in the fall of 1958 when they suspended nuclear weapons testing; it had made no progress for months but up to Wednesday all three powers had been unwilling to force an open break.

4. It shows Soviet disregard for opinion in Western and neutralist countries. There had been hope the great powers would agree on a permanent nuclear test ban as a first step toward broad-scale disarmament.

Predicts Propaganda Loss

The President and his advisers agreed that the Soviet Union would take a propaganda beating for its decision. The President's statement reflected that conclusion.

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing will be met with deepest concern and resentment throughout the world," Kennedy said.

"The Soviet Government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing presents a hazard to every human being throughout the world by increasing the dangers of nuclear fallout.

"The Soviet government's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing is in utter disregard of the Death Knell for Geneva Talks

Reds Blame West, Eye Monster Bomb

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today scrapped the three year moratorium on nuclear testing with a threatening warning to the West and a plea for understanding from the nonaligned nations the Kremlin is wooing.

Premier Khrushchev gave the go-ahead to his scientists to test new weapons ranging up to monster bombs with an explosive force of 100 million tons of TNT—5,000 times more powerful than the bomb dropped on Hiroshima in World War II.

The Soviets blamed the United States and its Allies for their decision to resume nuclear testing.

U. S. on Threshold

"It is an open secret," said a 6,000-word government statement, "that the United States is standing at the threshold of carrying out underground nuclear explosions and only waits for the first suitable pretext to start them."

Because of that, and because France has exploded some bombs the statement said, the Soviet Union has decided to test new bombs and to add to the world-crushing nuclear arsenal it claims it already has.

The statement linked the government's decision to the Berlin crisis as well.

"The Soviet government has been compelled to take this step, whose significance it fully appreciates, under the pressure of the international situation created by the imperialist countries," it said.

"The policy of the leading NATO powers—the United States, Britain, France and the Federal (West) German republic—and of this aggressive bloc as a whole, leaves the Soviet Union no other choice."

The statement appeared to be the death knell for the Geneva

JFK Not Too Hopeful Of Berlin Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has asssured the world that Western Allies, abhorring the risk of atomic devastation, will erect no barricade to the peaceful solution of the peril-laden Berlin crisis.

As of the moment, Kennedy told a news conference Wednesday, he cannot be wholly optimistic about prospects for a negotiated settlement.

But the West, he asserted, is prepared to use all available channels toward a solution that will guarantee West Berliners "the right to live out their lives in a way of their own choosing."

In the meantime, he said everyone—not excepting former Vice President Richard M. Nixon — should keep politics out of foreign policy.

Kennedy met with newsmen as the government was receiving its first alerts from abroad that Moscow was planning a major announcement. When it came, the declaration that the Soviet Union would renew nuclear tests threw an ominous light on Kennedy's remark at the conference that "there has been a good deal of brandishing of nuclear weapons."

At that time Kennedy said he was conscious, and sure Soviet Premier Khrushchev was conscious, of what destruction nuclear war would bring.

Kennedy announced he was calling retired Gen. Lucius D. Clay from civilian life to serve as his personal representative and add "to our resources of judgment and action" in Berlin.

Clay will exchange temporarily his $150,000 job as board chairman of Continental Can Co. for the rank of ambassador on his return to Berlin.

He was the military commander who directed the airlift that overswept the Communists' ground blockade of the city in 1948-49. His popularity was demonstrated by PRELIMINARY LAND WORK SHOWS on Eddyville acreage which is to be the site of loading and dock facilities of Nytralite Aggregate, Inc., a subsidiary of New York Trap Rock, which plans production of a high grade lightweight aggregate starting early next year. The view here is from the Kingston-Eddyville road (Abeel Street Extension) looking toward the Rondout Creek. (Freeman photo).

Nytralite Plant to Start in 1962, Make Million Yards of Aggregate

Ultimate production of a million cubic yards of lightweight aggregate annually after start of operations early next year is planned by Nytralite Aggregate, Inc. a subsidiary of New York Trap Rock, West Nyack, Paul M. Hedley, the corporation's president revealed today.

Construction plans for the $2,000,000 plant are progressing, he said, and by early next spring is expeteed to be producing a high grade structural aggregate in the Eddyville area.

Production capacity, at first, is scaled for a half million yards a year, but tentative provisions call for a second kiln which would double that capacity.

Some 350 acres overloking the Rondout Creek are to be involved, and engineers plan to locate the plant and kiln on the former Chambers property at Fly Mountain, and they will be "virtually hidden from view."

Removal of trees, it was noted, have been kept to a minimum and plans call for planting additional deciduous and evergreen trees along with other foliage near the plant.

"Particular attention is being given," said Hedley, "to the preservation of the shoreline beauty of the Rondout Creek."

The acquistion of shale-bearing properties is nearly completed, he said. All parcels which were sought have either been purchased or are under option.

Construction of the plant's foundation is scheduled to start early next month. Engineers have been preparing an access road from Route 32 and excavating the building site, which necessitated the draining of marsh lands and a small pond. Some minor dredging operations in the Rondout Creek are slated for the week of September 4. Road construction has made necessary the removal of some rock ridges by drilling and blasting.

Between Boat Basins

Other excavation work included the cutting of a lane down the mountainside leading to Rondout Creek which will be the course of the conveyor-type loading-out system. This will lead to the barge loading dock. The loading area will be located between Lou's Boat Basin and Lazy Bones Boat Basin where a salvage yard was formerly situated.

A contract has been signed with The M. W. Kellog Company authorizing the firm to design and construct the lightweight aggregate plant and rotary kiln. The kiln will be fabricated by the Kellogg Pyro-processing department and incorporates the most modern instrumentation and control equipment. The rotary kiln measures some 235 feet in length with a 15 foot diameter firing or discharge end.

Not Ground Into Dust

A noteworthy feature of a lightweight aggregate kiln is that while it resembles a cement kiln in appearance, it is fed with pieces of shale up to one inch in size rather than the feed being ground up into dust which is necessary in the manufacture of cement. The finished product is graded into three sizes; coarse, medium and fine.

Operational structures and facilities will include a primary crusher, raw shale storage pile, secondary crusher, sizing screens and silos, the kiln, rotary cooler conveyor belts, loading dock and bins.

Deliveries to customers will be via barge, rail and truck facilities.

NEW STORY ON TRAFFIC—Stuttgart, West Germany, has come up with a new idea in expediting traffic in a hurry. The idea is a second story traffic circle. Through traffic will pass on the ground level while the circular top story allows traffic to keep going without congestion. Between the two layers is a parking lot for more than 100 cars.

Highest-Ranking Jurist Explains Movie, Book Ban

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — "The only kinds of sexy movies or books or magazines that can be put out of business by process of law are those that have no real literary or social value," the state's highest-ranking jurist asserts.

Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond of the State Court of Appeals, called for intelligent and patient efforts to draft legislation designed to prevent sale of morally questionable books to young people.

He said the courts had refused to prevent sales of magazines and books and distribution of movies that "by any standards are pretty bad."

Minor More Susceptible

Efforts to provide a constitutional basis to restrict sales of these articles to minors were based on the idea, "which I think must be accepted, that minors are more susceptible than aduits to this type of material," the judge said.

Courts might uphold laws banning the sale of questionable material to minors even though laws halting all sales of the matter involved would be unconstitutional, he said.

Desmond made the comments in a speech Wednesday night at the Lake Placid Education Foundation's 1961 symposium on "Christian Morality and Freedom of Speech in America."

Explains Interpretation

Desmond noted that his own court recently had refused to ban the distribution of a magazine that loca lofficials had ruled obscene.

He said critics of the decision were not aware of the court's obligation to interpret the law as it was written and not to impose the court's personal view. He was a member of the four-judge majority in the ruling.

The judge, in calling for a moderate approach, said proponents of complete freedom ignore "the real social evil of truly obscene pictures."

As for strict censorship, he said, "we must remember that we are living in a pluralist society and... we cannot impose our special views on our neighbors."

He urged "intelligent and patient efforts...to draw statutes that will be constitutional but that will disinguish between the kinds of literature that may be sold to youths" and the kind that should be limited to aduits.

Keating Clashes With Freeman on Milk Code Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., clashed at a House Commerce Committee hearing on the milk-sanitation bill.

Freeman urged passage of legislation that would insure free movement in interstate commerce of milk and milk products meeting U.S. Public Health Service standards.

Keating said adoption of a national milk sanitation code would be a "brazen attempt to sell Eastern agriculture down the river."

They presented their views Wednesday at a committee hearing.

Freeman said both farmers and consumers are penalized under the present system by a multiplicity of local sanitation and inspection requirements.

"Producers, handlers and consumers would benefit substantially by the elimination of many of the present needless costs of complying with overlapping and duplicating inspections and differing standards of various states and localities," Freeman said.

He said there was considerable evidence that milk sanitation regulations were used to obstruct the movement of milk in interstate commerce.

Keating contended that adoption of the milk-sanitation code would challenge the nation's basic milk marketing system. It is unreasonable, he said, to maintain that a town of several hundred persons needs the same type milk-control as New York City.

Midwestern dairy producers anxious to gain entry into big Eastern markets support the legislation. Dairymen in the East charge it would foster dumping of surplus Midwest milk on their markets and depress prices.

Columbia Driver Drowns, Horse Is Saratoga Victor

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — A driver-trainer at Saratoga Raceway was drowned in Saratoga Lake a few hours before he was to drive Buddy T. Wyn in a $500 Class C-3 pace.

Donald E. Kittle, 24, of Ghent, Columbia County, fell or dove off a dock into three feet of water, State Police said.

Kittle's father, Nicholas, said he and his son had made a pact that if anything happened to either, and one of their horses was scheduled to race, it would start.

Nicholas Kittle hired Don Miller to drive Buddy T. Wyn. The horse led from wire to wire and won in 2:13.

Donald Kittle's body was found floating Wednesday near a dock at a camp he had at the northeastern end of the lake.

Last year, driving and training for his father, Kittle had eight wins, seven seconds and eight thirds in 63 starts.

$500 Million Annual Boost

Holiday Raises Coming Up For Many Low Paid in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 2.5 million low-paid workers in private industry will share in a $500 million annual pay raise this Labor Day weekend on orders of Uncle Sam.

The first annual installment of changes voted by Congress earlier this year — broadening the amount and coverage of the federal minimum wage law (Fair Labor Standards Act)—goes into effect Sunday.

Two Categories

The changes fall into two main categories:

1. For the 24 million workers already covered by the law the minimum wage is being increased from $1 an hour to $1.15.

Only 1.9 million of these workers are actually earning less than $1.15. Raises for them will cost an estimated $336 million a year.

2. About 3.6 million workers are being included under the law for the first time. Previously they were exempt.

They are to begin at a $1 an hour minimum. But only 663,000 of these newly-covered workers are earning less than $1 an hour. These pay raises will cost an estimated $200 million a year.

President Kennedy, after losing a big fight for a $1.25 per hour minimum wage in Congress last year, succeeded this year. However, he succeeded on a gradual basis that will bring the regularly covered workers up to the $1.25 level in 1963 and newly covered workers to that level in 1965.

The newly covered workers include more than 2 million employed in retail trade—mainly the department and chain stores. Others brought under the federal wage floor for the first time include employes of drug stores, gasoline filling stations, supermarkets and various service establishments.

Any store is still considered exempt unless it is part of a company doing a $1 million annual business and itself does $250,000 business a year—that is, $5,000 a week or more.

17 Million Still Exempt

Still exempt from the law are about 17 million workers. Most are engaged in work that fails to meet the law's definition of interstate commerce. Workers in farming and farm processing are still exempt and these exemptions have been broadened in some respects. Employes at cotton gins and livestock auctions are newly exempted, for example.

Others specifically exempt are employes of restaurants, hotels, motels, movie theaters, hospitals, schools for physically handicapped or gifted children, institutions for the sick or aged, and amusement establishments run on a seasonal basis.

About 1 million construction employes are being brought under the law for the first time. But only 50,000 of them are due for a raise to $1 an hour. Most construction workers make well above that level.

Rochester GOP Is Reorganized, Invites Joiners

Town of Rochester Republican Club secretary, Edmund E. Schoonmaker, has announced a reorganization of the Town of Rochester Club in order to distribute the party responsibilities among a greater number of Republican workers.

The committee roster now is: First District — Donald L. Schoonmaker, recently elected chairman, and Peter Gates; Second District — Edmund E. Schoonmaker, recently elected secretary, and Philip H. Davis; Third District — Richard Gray and Abe Smith.

The chairman, Donald L. Schoonmaker, stated that the committee invites all Republicans and voters to participate in the activities of the Town of Rochester Republican Club.

Opera May Seek U. S. Subsidies

NEW YORK (AP)—The Metropolitan Opera, which operates at a deficit every season, may seek government subsidies.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, arbitrator of a contract dispute between the Met management and the orchestra's union, says he is "completely open" on the possibility of government subsidies for such cultural institutions as the Metropolitan.

Goldberg made the comment to newsmen Wednesday after holding the first arbitration hearing.

Anthony A. Bliss, president of the Metropolitan Opera Association, said the Met may seek government aid to save it from "the threat of eventual bankruptcy."

Herman Kenin, president of the American Federation of Musicians, testified at the arbitration hearing that government assistance to the performing arts is sorely needed.

President Kennedy assigned Goldberg to the dispute between the Metropolitan and Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians after the opera management had declared the contract deadlock made a 1961-62 season impossible.

The threat to the season was lifted Monday when opera and union leaders agreed in Goldberg's office in Washington to abide by binding arbitration with Goldberg as sole arbitrator.

Goldberg heard a half dozen witnesses at the initial hearing. Then he asked both sides to submit documentary material by Sept. 15, and adjourned the hearing until an unspecified date in October. The season is scheduled to open Oct. 23.

'SURRENDER' ILLUSORY

Senator Goldwater of Arizona believes that "we must have a total victory over communism.' This point has been seized upon by Arkansas' Senator Fulbright who reminds us that the total victories we gained in both world wars generated more problems than they solved.

Total victory or unconditional surrender has an immensely appealing sound. In practice the gains of complete victory can often be obtained by a stand somewhat short of the absolute. We got all that we could possibly want in 1945 when the Japanese agreed to accept the harsh terms of the Potsdam Conference. Had we insisted on total surrender without a clear idea of what terms would then be offered, the Japanese would undoubtedly have fought on for some time. Many more American lives would then have been lost before we finally overcame Japan.

In World War 2 President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill demanded a total victory over the Germans, and thereby undoubtedly stiffened their resistance. Our rigidity had, however, the justification that not one trusted any promise Hitler and the Nazis might make. But if the moderate Germans — who did exist, though they were cowed — had been able to capture the government, they would probably have received easier terms, thereby heading off some of Russia's advances on the eastern front.

It is always wiser to announce terms that leave some room for negotiation. "Unconditional surrender" is not such a term, and for that reason talking about it is unrealistic.

A new electronic brain is an improvement over a lot of human brains in two respects—it's not only faster, but it learns from experience.

CAUSE FOR STOCK RISE

That American business faces a period of heavily increased activity in the coming months is well mirrored in advancing stock prices. On both the domestic and international fronts the economy will almost certainly be called upon to produce as it has never produced before.

This possibility that something akin to wartime demand must be met, with our factories having to supply domestic consumer needs while keeping up with increased defense spending for ourselves and our allies, seems to be influencing many investors. This psychology most readily accounts for the ease with which the industrial averages have risen recently to new highs.

Even a cursory glance at the financial news substantiates the belief that new peaks are in the offing. Evidence of the buildup in our new boom mounts daily to the point where the economy threatens to move too fast.

Coming atop these circumstances, the three-and-a-half-billion-dollar increase in the current defense budget provides an additional demand for industry which must be met. And while debate in Congress over the mechanics of foreign aid was not mild, the principle has been accepted and foreign aid spending over the coming years is bound to grow. Here it will also be incumbent upon American industry to fulfill, with its products, American foreign policy.

This all appears to add up to a half decade of economic activity such as the United States has never before experienced. It is little wonder, therefore, that equity prices take such giant steps forward.

President Kennedy calls aid to education his most important proposal. But some congressmen just seem to lack that Harvard viewpoint.

The bill for a successful moon landing is estimated at about 20 billion. At that figure, the spaceman should be able to afford a weekend there.

HUNTER'S TESTIMONY

There will undoubtedly be a storm over the testimony of Edward Hunter before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. Already Senators Keating and Dodd have protested the publication of Hunter's testimony, although they had a chance to read it.

I have known Edward Hunter during most of his life, much of which was spent in China. His integrity cannot be questioned. He has devoted his years to a study of psychological warfare and has made a specialty of the technique which he calls "brain-washing." This technique is used by the Russians and the Red Chinese as it was used by Hitler to predetermine human responses to propagandistic stimulii. For instance, the current universal slogan, "I'd rather be Red than dead," is a Communist brain-washing tactic. It is repeated in every country and becomes an answer to current political problems.

In his testimony before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, Hunter sought to prove that a powerful anti-anti-Communist movement was being developed. He states his case as follows:

"A quick, Red operation is being attempted, like that of a sleight-of-hand artist, to push this administration, the press, and public into a trap that would eliminate the anti-Communist program in the United States. We should know by now that this is the way Red strategy operates, as it did in the concluding period of World War II."

To prorve his case, Edward Hunter has made a study of simultaneous articles and editorials in the non-Communist press which, so far as he is concerned, prove that the Communists have evolved a clever technique in the United States which, as I understand his testimony, seeks to establish that those who are not Communists, spread the Communist line. He cites this as an example:

"One of the most glaring examples of the double standard is in Red racism. The Reds use the term, racial liberation wars, in the native languages of Asia and Africa, and make no bones about it being a war against the white man, specifically the Western white man. So-called liberals who fall into the trap of equating defense of freedom with racism, following the Red line, never raise a voice against the obvious racism engaged in by Communists."

Edward Hunter reaches this conclusion as to current Communist activities:

"One date should be kept in mind as a starting point of the new phase in 'psywar,' the new Red anti-anti-Communist drive, to differentiate it from the Red-manipulated, covert anti-anti-Communism we had heretofore. The former is outright Red-managed, part of disclosed policy of the Communist hierarchy, and immensely more aggressive. Something new has been added to the old, and it is direct action—demonstrations and riots, unbridled smears in the traditional Red manner, and what in practice amounts to an overt manipulation of non-Communist and even anti-Communist personalities and groups, in and out of government, for a basic Red objective, the liquidation of the growing anti-Communist grassroots movement in the United States."

After the defeat and death of Senator Joe McCarthy, the anti-Communist movement in the United States paled. Men and women were ashamed to be associated with McCarthyism.

Recently, a strong grassroots anti-Communist movement developed, particularly in the colleges and universities. This movement is a sincere response to political necessity. Such an organization as the Young Americans for Freedom or the Committee for a Responsible National Students Organization represents the best in American life and it is such efforts which the Communists now seek to kill off.

Hunter goes further than the politicians by mentioning names, citing articles and showing a correlation of ideas. If Hunter is wrong, those whom he accuses of being brainwashed should establish his error. As it stands, the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee's report stands as an indictment and it must be answered. It is not an indictment involving turpitude; it does involve soft-headedness, a failure to study the material that comes before us all.

It must be acknowledged that the United States has suffered from the effort to pooh-boo anti-Communism. That is one reason why we are now sending more troops into Berlin. Rather than ridicule Hunter, it would be wiser to study his testimony carefully.

How to Spot Symptoms Of Eye-Veiling Cataracts

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

While glaucoma accounts for 14 to 15 per cent of blindness in the United States, impairment or total loss of vision from cataract formation is even more frequently encountered.

Cataract formation occurs in the lens of the eye. This lens is about the size and shape of a small olive pit. It is suspended just behind the pupillary opening. And when it fogs or actually becomes opaque, your vision becomes imperfect and may fail completely.

No test is required to diagnose cataract formation. If the cataract formation is spotty, you may notice that:

Your vision is blurred.

There are consistent blind spots in your field of vision.

Lights appear double.

You can see objects perfectly if they are directly in front of you or that you can see these objects only if they are off to the side.

Sometimes, you may notice nothing. But some member of your family or a business associate may notice that there's been a change in the appearance of your eye. If, then, you are examined with an ophthalmoscope by your own doctor, an eye specialist (ophthalmologist) or an optometrist, the lens changes are easily observed.

Unless the cataract has gotten "overripe," your vision can be preserved by a relatively simple operative procedure.

Besides glaucoma and cataract, injury to the optic nerve may produce visual impairment. In this condition, the lens functions perfectly; the fluid is of normal tension, but the nerve fails to respond to light rays just as your facial nerves fail to respond to pain after your dentist has given an injection of a local anesthetic.

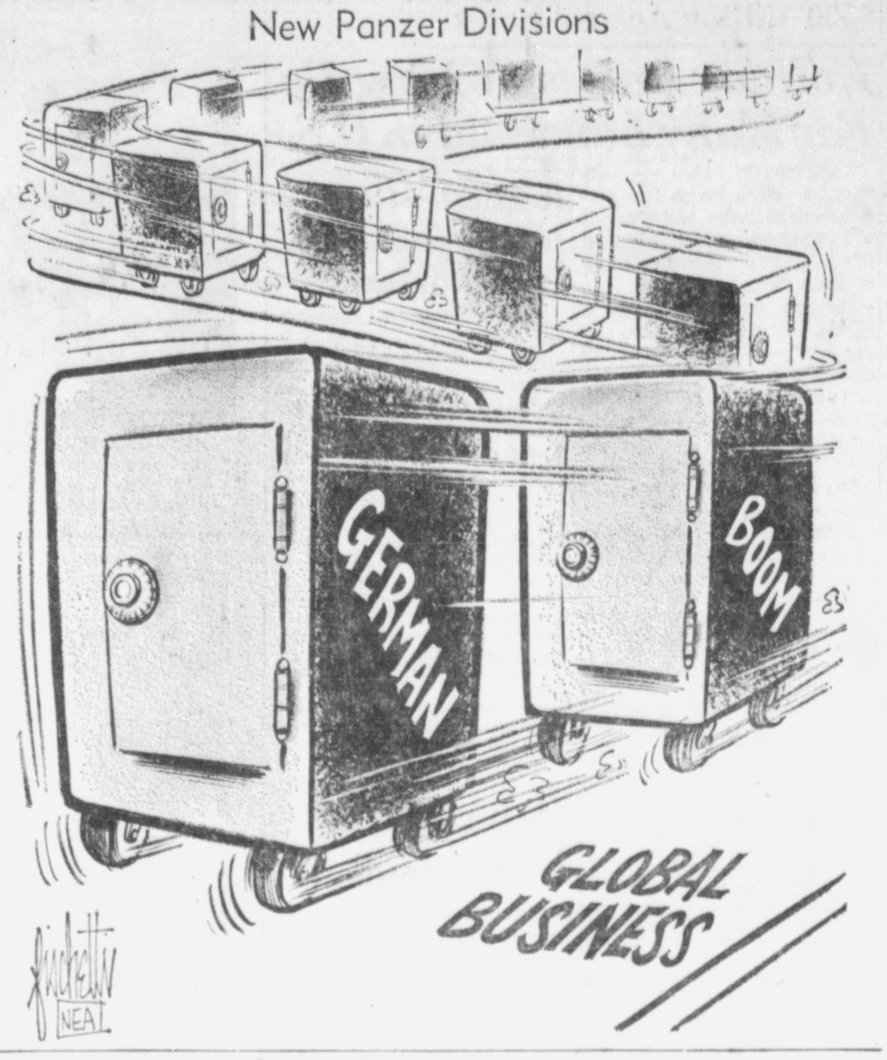

Now there are many causes for inflammation of the optic nerve (retrobulbar neuritis). But a principal cause is excessive use of tobacco, particularly long continued cigar smoking. And the means for prevention? If diagnosed early, nothing more than giving up smoking.

Thus far, nothing has been said of eye pain. And while cataract formation, chronic glaucoma and retrobulbar neuritis are painless condifions, acute glaucoma is one of the most agonizing afflictions known to mankind.

For that reason, if for no other, early diagnosis and prompt treatment are of utmost importance. This is particularly emphasized by the unhappy fact that an attack of acute glaucoma may be precipitated when pupil-dilating drops (mydriatics) are introduced either for cosmetic reasons or for eye examination.

Contrariwise the attack may be prevented and controlled more or less indefinitely at times by simple instillation of pupil-contracting drops (miotics), especially if the effects of the miotic drops are strengthened by pills that reduce the inflow of fluid into the chamber of the eye.

And, finally, if nonoperative measures fail, there's always surgical drainage to be considered.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Kennedy Administration's New Frontiers program for youth is a multi-million-dollar baby that might grow up into quite a man-sized undertaking if Congress ever approves the whole thing.

The beginning is a Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Offenses Control Act which will become law this year. It will authorize expenditures of $10 million a year in a still somewhat fuzzy effort to cut down the 750,000 juvenile court cases — 250,000 of them traffic violations — reported in 1960.

The federal funds will be granted to state and local governments and to nonprofit welfare agencies for a three-part program of demonstration and evaluation projects, training and techincal assistance to juvenile courts, police and others trying to cope with the problems.

This is one of Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff's ideas, born out of his experience as a governor and a judge. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg serve with him on the President's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency. But David Hackett as executive director and Dr. Lloyd C. Ohlin, who drafted the legislation, are trying to pull together all organizations and people in the field for a major national attack on juvenile delinquency.

NOT FAR BEHIND the legislation is a Manpower Development and Training Act. It will cover all workers over 16, but it includes a special section on training youth. For the whole program, it would authorize expenditures of $90 million this year, $115 million next year and $200 million for each of the years following.

In the next 10 years it is estimated that there'll be 26 million new workers. Many seeking jobs will be 16-year-old school dropouts who need training. Utilizing the U. S. Employment Service to find and test these youngsters and the Office of Vocational Education to train them, it is hoped to reduce the numbers.

The Work Opportunities legislation is one part of the Kennedy Youth program which will probably not pass this year. It would authorize $25 million for on-the-job training of young people working half-time, spending half-time in classes.

Another $25 million would be authorized for grants to state and local governments to employ young people on public service projects, such as parks or hospitals, for $20 a week.

A third $25 million would be allocated to a Youth Conservation Corps, modeled on Civilian Conservation Corps of the depression. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., one of the original sponsors of this idea, wanted 150,000 men in the YCC. But since it cost $3,000 a year to keep a man in camp, paying him $70 a month, the administration cut to 6,000 for a starter. Stepping up the draft probably kills it.

THE PEACE CORPS legislation is given a better chance. It has been organized on White House emergency funds, but Congress has been asked for $40 million for the first-year operations. That would send 1,000 young teachers and engineers overseas to work for buck privates' pay of $75 a month.

There is, finally, Kennedy's pet Youth Fitness program with Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson advising the White House to make toughies out of softies.

There's also a Cabinet committee of Ribicoff, Goldberg and Interior Secretary Stuart Udall, with Simon McNelly in charge of federal-state relations. Many physical education experts think the program isn't necessary or accomplishing anything.

The administration's whole $2.9 billion aid-to-education program is, in fact, the big thing in the youth program. The philosophy behind it is that the country should invest more in its human resources.

THERE IS NO PROGRAM to establish a Department of Youth on top of the existing Children's Bureau in HEW, yet. There is no thought of going into this the way the totalitarian governments do in controlling youth from age three to the time they became adults.

The program is just to provide more counseling and guidance to keep youths from becoming deliquents and to help them plan and achieve a useful life.

Whistles for Aid

CAMPTON, Ky. (AP) Johnny B. Childers, crippled and in his 80s, keeps a police whistle in the rural home where he lives alone. The whistle is to summon help for himself but recently he used it to help a neighbor.

Nelson Adams, 63, who also lives alone, fell in front of his house and could not get up. Childers, seeing Adams through a window, worked his chair to the front door, opened it and blew the whistle.

Some children heard the whistle, investigated and summoned help for Adams.

Moral Suasion, Not Law, Used to Halt British Strikes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

In England this writer had an opportunity in recent days to discuss with top men in the field of labor-management relations the problems of avoiding strikes.

Great Britain has made consirerable progress in this area by what might be called moral suasion instead of law. This is of particular interest to America, where in recent years one administration after another has been groping for such a solution.

Not all is rosy in England, to be sure. At the moment, for instance, labor is protesting vociferously against the plans of the chancellor of the exchequer, Selwyn Lloyd, to bring about what is called a wage "pause." This has thus far affected only the civil servants, whose wage increases have been halted because Mr. Lloyd, as head of the British Treasury, sees ahead some storms in the balance-of-payment problem. Mr. Lloyd also has proposed a national economic planning agency which, though not a part of the government, would be an independent body consisting of national representatives of the unions and the employers and probably himself. It would provide information and statistical data about the national economy to help it "to operate."

The Trades Union Congress—the national organization of British labor unions — has frowned on the plan because of a fear it will brush aside the existing informal but effective arbitration machinery.

In Great Britain, the settling of labor disputes involves a minimum of governmental intervention. While the procedures developed separately in each industry over the years differ widely, they share one approach — to bring the national interest to bear on local disputes as a way of reaching compromises. Approximately 3,000 disputes a year are settled at one stage or another by the procedures agreed upon by both sides. This approach began back in the 1890's and has been developing ever since.

In the engineering trades, for example, the procedures operate in three stages. If a dispute cannot be settled informally, a "works conference is set up at the factory, with management on one side and the shop stewards representing the union on the other. The meeting may call in outside advice from the local employers' association and the district officials of the union.

If the two sides can't agree, either can demand the second stage of the negotiation—a conference which takes place, not in the local factory, but in one of the centers where the employers' association and the unions have their district offices This is at the district level. At this stage, more than half the disputes sent up from factory level have been settled.

But if no agreement is forthcoming, the dispute is taken up by the central conference, which meets on the second Friday of every year. This is the highest level of negotiation in the engineering industry, and it is attended by members of the national bodies on both sides.

Other industries use similar procedures. The iron-and-steel industry, for instance, sends down to the local level national representatives of both management and labor. They work from the top down, but the effect is the same.

Other industries in Britain use governmental arbitration machinery, and others have no formal procedure.

But the thing to remember about British industrial relations is that agreementss between management and labor on a national level do not have the legal status of a contract as in the United States. They are more or less in the form of "gentlemen's agreements." This is a weakness in the system, because it has led to a large number of wildcat strikes.

The influence of Communists inside labor unions in Europe is being felt more and more. Top officials of the labor unions deny that the Communists wield any such influence. Indeed, they point proudly to the fact that a relatively small number of workers are identified with the Communist party. But this is a naive approach. The Communists in Moscow have long been operating through only a handful of persons in many a national organization. These agents are responsible for stirring up all kinds of antagonisms and for agitating extreme positions.

Communist influence in labor unions is small in the Scandinavian countries, but it is growing in France and in Italy. It has played a part also in British trade union affairs, though the British are not willing to admit that it has caused any considerable damage. Recently, however one of the largest unions, the Electrical Trades Union, with 240,000 members, was suspended from the national organization—the Trades Union Congress—because many of its officers are Communists or are sympathetic with Communist aims. These officials could not possibly have been elected if the members had not been indifferent and failed to attend union meetings and vote.

There is no question but that Moscow has recognized clearly one of the weaknesses of the free world—its labor problems—and has gradually infiltrated in important unions, making disputes more and more difficult to settle. This is all the more reason why statesmanship is so necessary nowadays to bring about the settlement of labor-management problems.

OLD TIMERS' CIVIL WAR NOTES

In a previous article, I told Freeman readers about the duties and incidents connected with picketing as related by a Kingston veteran who had served with the famous Harris Light Cavalry, such as the dangers of outpost duty, the terrific strain of scouting in a strange country, and the importance of this kind of work to the safety of the army and its success in the field. There was also the humorous incident of the vidette, the officer and the forgotten countersign. Let's see what else this one-time member of the Union Army's crack regiment of horse-soldiers, recruited largely in Orange and Ulster Counties, has to say of life in Old Virginia a century ago:

In those days of picketing in the vicinity of Bull Run we were much more afraid of the officers detecting us in some serious breach of regulations (such as not remaining in the saddle while on outpost) than we were of the enemy. It was much easier to watch for the enemy while lying on the ground. We also knew that we were a better mark for any lurking Bushwacker when on horseback than we would be on the ground behind a tree. The vedette was almost invariably in a position where, if the enemy attacked him in the rear, he would be forced to run from his reserve towards the enemy's lines, if he ran at all. I have stood on picket a mile from our reserve, on a cow path where the growth was so thick it would be impossible to leave the path on horseback.

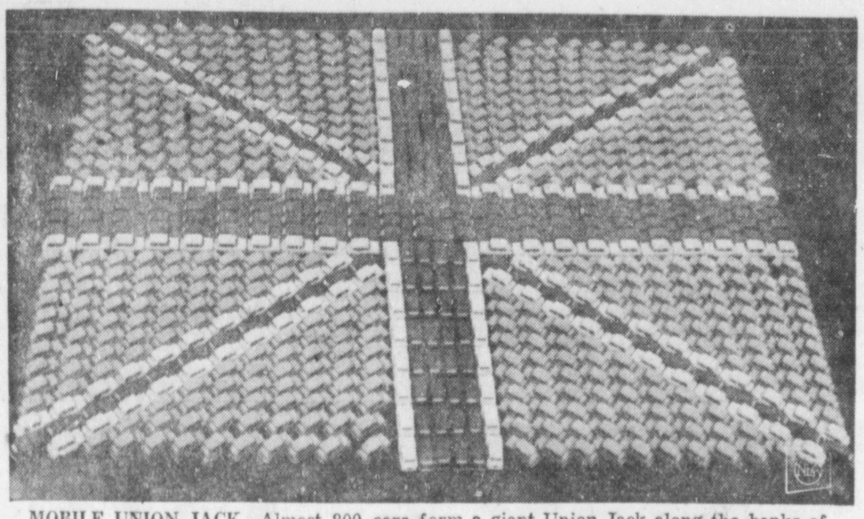

I well knew that if a squad of Confederates crept on me in the rear, there would be little chance for me to escape being killed or captured. We knew little about the country as compared to the enemy who were familiar with every footpath and byway. Yes, being on vedette duty required considerable courage. If one became frightened at every sound, thinking it was the enemy, he would unnecessarily fire the shot which would alarm the reserve; his comrades would tell him he had made an ass of himself, and ridicule to most men was worse than a shot from the enemy.

We moved to Centerville March 13, the weather was cold and disagreeable the day before and we found our twilled muslin tents anything but comfortable. Here we were quartered in abandoned huts of the Confederates and we found them clean and in good order; there was a regular village of them, with streets laid out between the huts. We ran a rope down the middle of the street and tied our horses to it. Each unit had a fireplace and we used spare furniture for fuel. Some of these huts at Centerville had been built and used by the Washington Artillery of New Orleans during the first winter of the war. Their Lieutenant Owen in his history of the Confederate battalion wrote, "The soldiers learned to handle the ax as well as their cannon. The felling of trees for logs was heard the livelong day. The depot quartermaster supplied windows, locks, etc. We were now settled down for winter with big fires roaring in the mud fireplaces." (Our Yankee lads sure appreciated all this when they took over the diggings in March, 1862).

The artillerymen from the deep South appear to have enjoyed their stay in the Centerville area; at nearby Waltonville they put on a grand fancy masked ball, according to Historian Owen who wrote that "the ladies were impersonated by our youngest fellows, and showing right pretty arms and neck, were there with their girlish chat and their coquettish flirtations . . . Corporal Bob Many was so pretty and girlish, with his plump neck and rounded arms, that he was voted the Belle of the Ball." They also published a paper called the War Cry, but, before the second number was issued, the Army of the Potomac started that way and they hurriedly left. Owen further says: "When the enemy came in possession of Waltonville, McClellan fell heir to a good many of our valuables that we were compelled to leave behind, especially the batteries of Quaker guns in the forts of Centerville." . . . Our Kingston trooper concludes with, "The last thing the Confederates did was to lower the garrison flag and run up a sanguinary black flag in its place. It was about this time that the Harris Light Cavalry dashed through Centerville and took possession of Mannasses.

The Harris Light Cavalry was organized at Scarsdale by Col. J. Mansfield Davis during the summer of 1861; later, the War Department designated the regiment as the Seventh U. S., and still later as the 2nd N. Y. State Volunteer Cavalry. Company I was recruited largely at Hudson River points including Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Tarrytown. The unit participated in scores of engagements and was mustered out June 23, 1865, at Alexandria, Va. Death losses in this cavalry regiment totalled 11 officers and 360 enlisted men.

Old Timer hereby acknowledges with thanks, receipt of interesting data from the following readers: Mrs. George E. Wert, Kingston; William C. Corwin, New Paltz, and George Kent of Old Hurley. He trusts that many other persons will send him information pertinent to the series on Ulster County's contribution to the Union cause in Civil War times.—C.A.W.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

A very interesting book was just loaned to me. It is Vol. 1 "Documents Relative to Colonial History of the State of N. Y." The book is over 600 pages long and in size 9 by 12 and 2 inches thick. There are also some large folded maps, one in color with figures — a copy of a 1612 coast of eastern U. S. A.

This remarkable book, or books, were published in Albany in 1856 and printed by Weed, Parsons and Co. The material was gathered by John Romeyn Brodhead, Esq. agent commissioned by Governor of New York State, William Henry Seward (Whig Governor 1839 to 1842). It was Seward who recognized the necessity of buying Alaska from Russia in 1867 at which time this purchase was called "Seward's Folly."

Back in 1839 on May 2 the New York State Legislature passed a bill appropriating some $4,000 to appoint an agent to visit England, Holland and France to procure the original documents if possible, if not copies of all papers and documents relating to Colonial and other historical items pertaining to New York State history.

Jan. 15, 1841 some two years after the bill was passed Mr. John Romeyn Brodhead was chosen and commissioned as agent. The letter of instruction from the Governor (Seward) dated March 27, 1841, to Brodhead is printed in full in this book. This was no simple matter.

Brodhead a student of history, had to have translations made from French and Dutch which work E. B. O'Callaghan, MD, LLD, did. The documents go back to the early 1600's when they were in Dutch to 1664 when the English took the New Netherlands, now known as New York.

From Gov. Seward's letter to Brodhead dated March 27, 1841 it reads in part: "You will be allowed at the rate of $2,000 per annum, payable quarterly for your compensation, besides your traveling expenses and disbursements for the purpose of your commission. You have already received in advance $1,500. On rendering accounts for $1,000 of that sum, you may draw upon the comptroller for another sum of $1,000 in advance."

May, 1841, Brodhead sailed for Europe and for the next nearly three years, he diligently searched through papers in Holland, England and France. In England he wanted to make sure not to spend time on copying duplicates. In the summer of 1844 he came back to the U. S. and had to index and arrange his documents, no small job, for there were some 80 volumes. I think this was money well spent, for now these records are or were then safe in the office of the Secretary of the State at Albany, from which, I take it, this one of many books was printed.

This from one of the Holland Documents on Indians: "The natives are generally well limbed, slender around the waist, broad shouldered, all having black hair and brown eyes. They are very nimble and swift of pace, well adapted to travel on foot and to carry heavy burdens; make light of all sorts of hardships. They resemble Brazilians in color, or are as tawny as those people who sometimes ramble through Netherland and are called Gypsies. Generally, the men have very little or no beard, and some even pluck it out, they use very little words, which they previously well consider." More from this book in a future column.

Super-Duper Bomb Better For Red Propaganda Than Military, Pentagon Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Pentagon atomic specialists said today they believe the Soviet Union would get more propaganda mileage than military value out of any super nuclear bomb with the blast power of 100-million tons of TNT.

U.S. officials have been discussing the possibilities ever since Soviet Premier Khrushchev claimed three weeks ago that his scientists were prepared to develop such a superbomb.

There was no sign that the United States, which is believed to have H-bombs up to 20 megatons, was being stampeded into a race with the Soviets to get the monster weapon first.

"The propaganda value is greater than anything else," one official said when told of the Soviet announcement of plans to push ahead with creation of a superbomb.

U.S. atomic experts stress that there is no arithmetic progression in the effectiveness of nuclear weapons — that a 100-megaton bomb such as the Soviets are talking about would not devastate a five times greater area than a 20-megaton weapon. According to some estimates, the destruction range would be about double and the total area of destruction about four times as great.

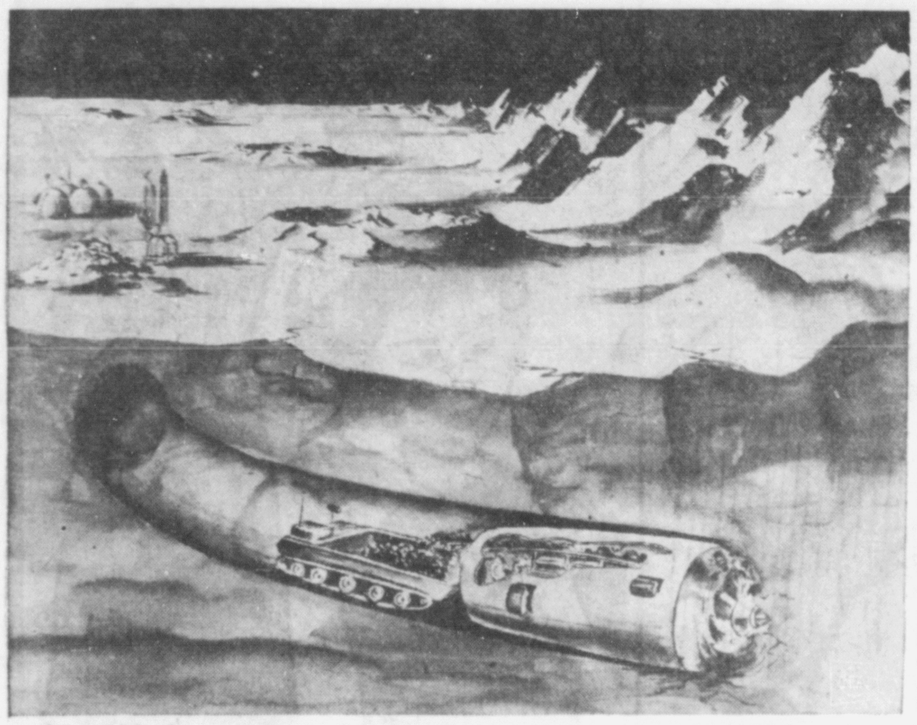

The key, they say, is the efficiency of the bomb—and they claim the American nuclear bombs are very efficient. Available officials could give no information on the efficiency of Soviet nuclear weapons.

One source familiar with the views of military atomic scientists said, "We have the capacity and we have the manufacturing processes" to go ahead with a superbomb, but "our people said there is no point" in doing so.

"What's the sense of killing a city twice?" was the way it was put.

What was meant was that 20-megaton weapons already are considered big enough to lay waste any target.

Some meteorologists believe lightning helps cloud droplets coalesce into raindrops.

A tunnel in the moon may be the answer to a practical permanent base. While surface temperatures vary by hundreds of degrees, below it would probably be a steady 45.

'Rangers' Will Pioneer Man-on-Moon Effort

Though Uncle Sam's "Ranger I" satellite went into earth orbit rather than the deep-space probe intended, its launching was a significant step toward a man-on-the-moon try within the next few years. Other Ranger tests, including attempted landings of instruments on the moon, will be made. How man may eventually come to the moon is pictured, here. Sketches were prepared in connection with a study of the requirements for earth-lunar transport and basing of an expedition. Study is being made under contract to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by the Martin Company of Baltimore, Md.

California Has Best Salads, TV Writer Boasts

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Salad Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—These are salad days, at which time it's good to be in California.

This is not mere local pride, but honest realism. I hate to be a continent-dropper (that's a lie; I love it). But having been to the Orient and Europe this year, I can report I still haven't found salads to match California's.

Nor are there comparable salads in eastern America. New York is a limp-lettuce town. I'll duel any New Yorker who challenges that. Watercress at five paces.

Care Vital Point

The difference is not merely in the fresh-picked lettuce you get in California. The basic element of a salad is the care with which it is made. There is nothing more repugnant to the sensitive salad-man than a handful of warm lettuce toppped with a mucilage of thousand island.

Lettuce must be cold and crisp. My cook, who makes such a good salad that I married her, has an unpatented method for assuring this. She tears and sprinkles the lettuce an hour early, then chills it in the refrigerator with a paper towel lining the bowl to absorb the water. The dressing, of course is added just before eating.

Abundant Variety

In California you can get salads in abundant variety. Even a fried salad. This sounds like a misnomer but it's a taco—shredded lettuce, cheese, tomato sauce and Mexican sausage wrapped in a deep-fried tortilla.

Hollywood's restaurants offer a wide assortment of salads. You won't find a better chef's salad than the one at Musso-Frank's, oldest eatery on the boulevard (est. 1919) and the best.

Musso's combines romaine, plain lettuce and watercress with thin slices of chicken, ham and tongue, chopped egg, shoestring beets and finely chopped parsely. It's served with a special pink French dressing, with or without garlic according to your courage.

Fine as Confetti

The Brown Derby's special is the Cobb salad, named after bossman Bob Cobb. It's great for people too tired to chew, because it's all chopped fine as confetti.

Here are the items that go on the chopping block: ½ head lettuce, ½ bunch watercress, small bunch chickory, ½ head romaine, two medium peeled tomatoes, two boiled breasts of chicken, six strips crisp bacon, an avocado, three hard-boiled eggs, two tablespoons chives, ½ cup grated roquefort cheese.

Put it all together with an old-fashioned French dressing and you've got a fabulous salad for four.

This column has made me so hungry, I'm going out for a salad. Back in two weeks.

Builders to Hear Rockefeller Talk About Shelters

New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller will address the New York State Home Builders Association members on residential and public fallout shelters at the organization's ninth Annual Convention - Exposition at Kiamesha Lake on September 30, it was announced today by association president, Wayne E. Edwards, Endicott builder.

The governor's talk will climax a 4-day business session featuring a special Fallout Shelter Center made up of extensive shelter and component parts exhibits by the State Civil Defense Commission and several manufacturers. In addition, Mr. Edwards stated another highlight of the convention will be a 3-hour fallout shelter forum on September 29 featuring governmental, military, banking and technical experts including Werner Weber, State Nuclear Engineering Consultant.

Edwards continued, "the State Home Builders Association, in planning this broad educational format, is receiving the fullest cooperation of General William Farrell, State Civil Defense Director in coordinating the program."

"The organized home building industry," Mr. Edwards explained, "has a dual responsibility in the matter of fallout shelters. Since we, as builders, constitute the one and only industry qualified to construct approved types of shelters, our first responsibility is to educate all builders and contractors in the state as to the proper, most efficient and economical construction methods of approved shelters.

"There can be no question," Mr. Edwards concluded, "but that this is the most vital matter confronting home owners and home builders today. We feel that the information developed at our forthcoming convention will serve to put into high gear a properly coordinated, effective program for fallout shelter construction.

Tonawanda Nurse For School Chosen By Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—A public school nurse from Tonawanda, N. Y., is among the men and women selected to train for the Peace Corps' West Pakistan project.

She is Theresa Agnes Crough, 32, who formerly lived in Ilion, N.Y.

Aslo chosen was James Patrick McKay, 25, of Hornell.

They began two months of training at Colorado State University Wednesday and will receive further instruction in Puerto Rico in November.

One group will be assigned to Lahore, capital of West Pakistan, and the other to Lyallpur, about 75 miles southwest of Lahore.

Rotary International Head Commends Kingston Newsboy

John Tyler, newsboy of 422 Washington Avenue, was saluted by Joseph A. Abey, president of Rotary International for his recent display of honesty and integrity in returning to its owner the sum of $156, which he found laying on a sidewalk in the uptown section of the city.

Rotary International President Abey, who has had intimate association with newspaper carrier boys having been director of New York State Circulation Manager and director of Interstate Circulation Manager Association as well as publisher of daily and weekly newspapers, sent the following letter of commendation to the young man, which was read by Kingston Rotary President Milton Grover at the regular weekly luncheon-meeting of the local service club on Wednesday:

8 August, 1961

Mr. John Tyler
422 Washington Avenue
Kingston, New York

Dear John:

In my long association with newspaper boys, I have seen, time and again, demonstrations of simple, down-right, old-fashioned honesty, These acts of personal integrity have made me proud of newsboys, individually and as a group.

Now I am prouder still of all young fellows with newspaper routes, for I have learned of your recent deed of honesty in returning a fairly large sum of money you found. My admiration for you is great, because you have shown that honesty is more than a rule; it is something you are—or are not—and the choice is up to the individual.

Many people in your community are proud of you, and they include a group of men who comprise the Rotary Club of Kingston. It was through these Rotarians that I came to know about what you had done. Since I have spent most of my life in the business of newspaper circulation they knew I would appreciate knowing about another act of honesty by a member of the fraternity of newsboys.

Again, I express my admiration for you. You have added to the brightness of the record of newsboys everywhere for honesty and fair dealing.

Sincerely,
Joseph A. Abey
President

Hugh C. Greer, of the public relations staff, Uniformed Fire Fighters, accompanied the honored youth at the luncheon. The firemen recently expressed their admiration of their newspaper carrier.

Frank D. Hornbeek, manager of Carl M. Loeb, Rhodes & Co., investment firm, was formally welcomed into Kingston Rotary.

Visitors at the luncheon included Edwin A. Ulrich of Hyde Park, governor of District No. 721, Rotary International. He announced that Augustus Modjeska had been named governor's aide.

President Grover outlined plans for the coming year to further Rotary ideals of helpfulness to others in the spirit of service to the local community.

WHAT'S A WATER CANNON?—East German police, using water cannons along the barricaded East-West Berlin border, have almost made this armored version of a fire engine an instrument of war. Actually, it's a weapon against mobs and rioters. A turret atop the truck resembles that of a tank but a high-pressure water nozzle capable of bowling over a person at 50 feet replaces the usual gun.

Like Savage Nudge to West Powers

Kremlin's Decision on Tests Brutal, Terror Technique

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet decision to resume nuclear testing—which makes no sense at all from the viewpoint of world opinion—is the extreme example of Russian terror tactics based on naked power.

1. It shows contempt for what the rest of mankind thinks.

2. It comes at a time when Premier Khrushchev has created a crisis on Berlin and is like a savage nudge to the West that Russia means business.

3. The announcement that this gives Soviet scientists a chance to test super-super bombs—equal to 100 million tons of TNT and far greater than any bomb the West possesses—is sheer, brutal, terror technique.

Even the circumstances under which the decision was announced Wednesday—while American and Russian negotiators were meeting in Geneva to discuss a test ban—makes this Russian move contemptuous of world opinion.

Three years ago the United States and Russia stopped testing, began negotiations to put a permanent ban on it. Wednesday the two sides had held their 338th meeting and, as before, with absolutely no progress.

There had been increasing pressure in this country, inside and outside Congress, for President Kennedy to order a resumption of American testing on the grounds that the negotiations for a ban were hopeless.

Misses Propaganda

If the Russians had waited a week or so more, maybe the United States would have resumed. Then Moscow could have had a propaganda field-day, blaming the United States as the enemy of mankind.

And Russia then could have announced that it, too, would resume testing but only in self-defense because the United States had done so.

Instead—just as 25 neutral nations were pouring representatives into Belgrade for a meeting starting Friday—Moscow made its announcement which shocked capitals around the world.

Yet, for years it had been assumed that Russia and the Western powers were equally anxious to avoid any action which might have had a bad reaction among neutral peoples.

Khrushchev's decision Wednesday shows this assumption is a fallacy and that Russia is relying on its own power and its own interests alone to dictate its policy.

K Contradicts Self

Even Khrushchev's decision is a contradiction of what he himself had said.

Last June Sen. Harry M. Jackson, Washington Democrat, said testimony before Congress by American military leaders had convinced the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy that from a military view testing should be resumed.

At the same time U.S. authorities were picking up information that Russian military men and scientists were becoming increasingly eager to resume tests. But June 20, at a Kremlin meeting, Khrushchev said:

"Some American leaders urge (the United States) to resume nuclear weapons tests if the Soviet Union does not accept the Western powers' demands (for a test ban). We must warn these gentlemen:

"No sooner the United States resumes nuclear explosions than the Soviet Union (immediately) will start testing its nuclear weapons. . . ."

But Wednesday Moscow didn't even make the pretense that this country had resumed testing. Instead, the Soviet announcement said: "It is an open secret that the United States is standing on the threshold of carrying out underground nuclear tests."

Relies on Power

The evidence that Khrushchev decided to rely on power—and the threat of power—to make the West yield to him on Berlin came on Aug. 9 when he no longer talked of resuming nuclear tests only after the United States did.

On that date he said if prospects for peace did not improve soon he would order Soviet scientists to build a bomb "equal to 100 million tons of TNT." He said Russia would not change its position on Berlin.

Russia has made a farce of negotiations before but never as cold-bloodedly as this time. Last week Kennedy sent Arthur H. Dean, American test ban negotiator, back to Geneva to talk once more with his Soviet counterpart, Semyon K. Tsarapkin, about a ban. The Russian told Dean Monday it was useless to talk of a test ban except on Soviet terms. Nevertheless, the two men met again Wednesday.

And while they were talking, or shortly afterwards, Moscow announced it would resume its nuclear tests.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Alton J. Wightman of Bath is the new Steuben County judge and children's court judge for the county.

Wightman, 56, an attorney, was appointed Wednesday by Gov. Rockefeller to succeed Domenick L. Gabrielli, who was named to the State Supreme Court bench.

Savings Banks Report Deposit Gains in July

NEW YORK—Deposit gains in July of $23 million were reported today for the nation's 515 mutual savings banks. The increase brought total deposits to $37.5 billion and total assets to $42.0 billion.

The National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, which issued the report, noted that seasonal factors traditionally make July a slow month for deposit gains. In July, 1960, deposits rose by $21 million.

The savings banks increased their mortgage holdings by $201 million. Mortgage portfolios total $28.0 billion, 66.6 per cent of total assets.

In other July investment activity, mutual savings banks added $18 million to their holdings, of U. S. Government securities, bringing total holdings to $6.3 billion. They bought $2 million of corporate securities and sold a like amount of state and municipal securities. Total holdings of corporates are $5.2 billion and of state and municipals, $685 million.

First Junior Riding Day Set Sunday at Ohayo Ring

The Woodstock Riding Club will hold its first Junior Riding Day of 1961 on Sunday, Sept. 3 at the Ohayo Mountain ring in Woodstock.

For the first time in Junior Riding Day history, the spectators will have the pleasure of seeing a working hunter class run over an outside course which is, perhaps, the prettiest event to watch in all horse competition.

The blanket entry for W.R.C. members and for non-members entitles one horse and one rider to enter as many classes as they wish. The competition is open to any child from any locality who has not reached their 18th birthday before January 1, 1961. However, no entry will be accepted without the signature of the child's parent or legal guardian.

Championship trophies in four divisions will be at stake.

Stabling fees are nominal and stabling over Saturday night is permitted. Stalls are assigned on a first come, first served basis.

Spectator admission is free and there will be a refreshment stand ably managed by Mrs. Lloyd Gibson featured home made delicacies. Prize lists and entry blanks may be obtained from the Shanty Store in Kingston or the Catskill Book and Record Shop in Woodstock.

Slight Effect Only if OCS Vote Passes

Acceptance by the voters of the Onteora Central District of the referendum scheduled for Sept. 21 will have but slight effect on the tax bill of each property owner in the district, an Onteora Central spokesman said today.

This special vote is intended simply to determine whether all parts of the central district will share in the past bonded debts of two former districts — Woodstock No. 2 and Hurley No. 5.

The total of these debts is $309,340. As a result of these debts, property owners in Woodstock No. 2 currently have an added tax of $8.24 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation. Hurley taxpayers pay an additional $7.42 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

If the changes proposed by the referendum had been in effect for the 1961-62 school year, the taxpayers in Woodstock 2 and Hurley 5 would have been relieved of these added debts, the spokesman said.

However, all parts of the central district would have been billed an additional rate of dollars per $1,000 of assessed valuation as follows:

1961-62: Woodstock, $2.26; Lexington, .53; Shandaken $1.-01; Olive, $2.26; Hurley, $1.18; Marbletown, $1.08.

Legion Auxiliary Has Sept. 5 Meeting

The regular meeting of the Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary 1026 will be held Thursday, Sept. 5, at 8 p. m. at the American Legion Hall.

There will be election of officers for the coming year and plans will be made for the annual dinner and installation of new officers on Wednesday, Sept. 13.

Rebekahs Meet

The regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge 623 will be held at the Bearsville Lodge hall on Wednesday, Sept. 6 at 8 p. m.

Reformed Church News and Notes

Adult Bible Class is scheduled Sunday at 9:30 a. m. in the Dutch Reformed Church in Woodstock, the Rev. Wayne C. Olson, pastor.

The morning worship service is scheduled at 11 a. m. Rev. Olson will be back from his vacation. It will be the last Sunday the student minister, Ed Tenhor, will be with us. He will return to his position as youth minister at the church on the Heights in Hackensack, N. J. and to his studies as the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. The sermon for Sunday will be "Our View of the Bible."

The Young People's Christian Endeavor meets Sunday at 7:30 p. m. All young people of high school age are invited to attend this meeting.

Consistory meets Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 8 p. m. The Elders are reminded to meet together first at 7:30 p. m.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will be held Thursday, Sept. 7 at 7:15 p. m.

Will Augment Neagoe Exhibit

The tremendous interest shown by art collectors who came to view the huge retrospective Anna Neagoe exhibit at the Gladstone Galleries in Woodstock has prompted the gallery director, Berta Gladstone, to announce that a second phase of this unusual exhibit is now on view.

So many of the paintings were sold at the first showing, that it was necessary to rearrange the exhibit and put on display a large number of paintings that had been reserved for a later showing in New York. The new exhibit, which again emphasizes the amazing range of creativity of Anna Neagoe over a period of many years of painting both here and abroad, includes a large collection of nudes, a number of abstracts and a new collection of portraits, including one never before shown here of Djuna Barnes, the writer.

The gallery hours at Gladstone Gallery continue to be from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. daily and by appointment.

Use a large discarded purse as a first aid kit when traveling. Put in it first aid supplies that will promptly take care of an emergency.

Set Final Plans For Dolce Ball

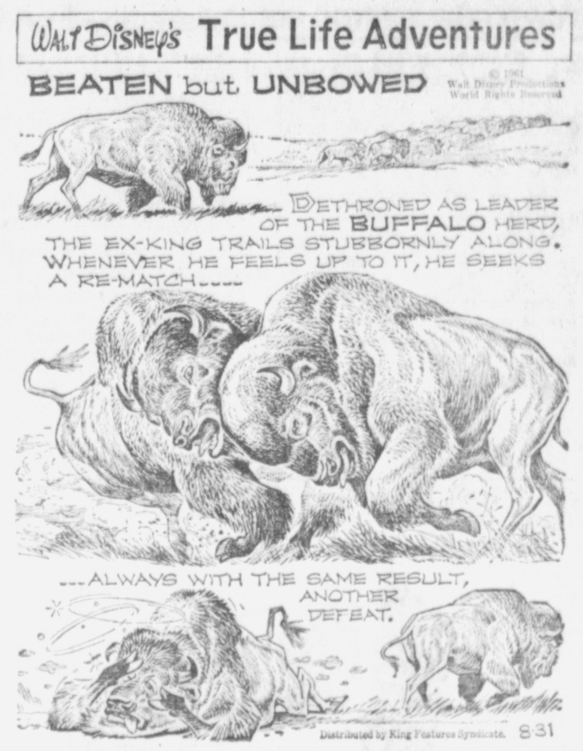

Costumes are being designed, murals are being painted and all other final preparations are being made for La Dolce Notte Costume Ball which will be held this Saturday night, September 2nd, by the Woodstock Artists Association at the Art Students League. The gala evening which will benefit the Association and the Woodstock Artists Welfare Fund is under the general chairmanship of Peter Turnbull.

Woodstock artists Doris Lee, Bob Jacobson and Eugene Ludins have donated drawings which will be awarded for the costumes judged the best in wit, originality and beauty. Sidney Laufman and Arthur Zaidenberg have provided drawings to be given as prizes.

The feature of the ball decorations which are under the direction of Howard Mandell and Jim Turnbull will be eight murals which are being painted by some of the leading artists of Woodstock. Included will be works by Arnold Blanch, Julio de Diego, Marion Greenwood, Fletcher Martin, Edward Millman, Walter Plate, Anton Refregier, and Reginald Wilson. During the evening's festivities the murals will be auctioned off to the highest bidder.

Another feature of the ball will be an unusual program of entertainment which has been arranged by Arthur Zaidenberg and Tommy Beere and includes such outstanding performers as Cardini, the internationally famous magician and Ethel Smith who is so well known for her appearances on radio and television and for her many recordings.

Tickets for La Dolce Notte Costume Ball are available at the Association gallery and from Rose Garlock, ticket committee chairman.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS — Norse Sea Food Grill Is Tempting

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here's a novel and tempting dish a Norwegian friend served us last night. With it we had tartar sauce on the side and boiled potatoes sprinkled with chopped dill.

Althogh it looks like a chef's production, it is quite simple to prepare at home. It combines plump Norway sardines, filets of lemon sole, jumbo shrimp, deep sea scallops and mushroom caps and tomato halves.

NORWEGIAN SEA FOOD MIXED GRILL

(Yield: 4 generous servings)

2 (3¾-ounce each) cans Norway sardines
4 small filets of lemon sole
8 jumbo shrimp
8 deep sea scallops
2 tomatoes, halved
4 mushroom caps
Olive oil
Bread crumbs
Parslied butter
Parsley bouquets (garnish)
Sections of lemon (garnish)

Open and drain the Norway sardines. Roll the sardines, filets of sole, shrimp, scallops and tomato halves in bread crumbs. Add the mushroom caps. Sprinkle all with olive oil and broil until golden brown.

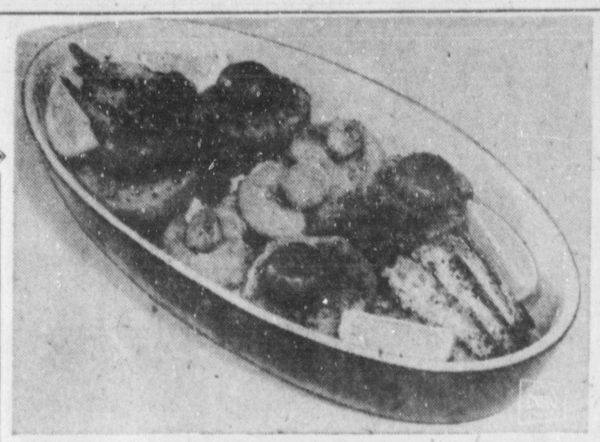

Dress on a serving platter or in a ramekin with the sardines between two tomato halves at each end, filets in the center covered with the shrimp halves with the broiled mushroom caps. Sprinkle parslied butter over all and garnish with parsley bouquets and lemon sections.

Shareholders

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Robert O. Allen told officers he had an excuse for stealing a bottle of scotch from a Tucson drug store.

Allen, 54, was quoted as saying: "Thinks were put on earth to be divided equally and I was just taking my share."

Metropolitan Opera star Dorothy Kirsten is married to medical scientist and neurosurgeon Dr. John Douglas French, of the University of California, Los Angeles.

TEMPTING appetite-whetter is this platter of mixed Norwegian sea foods. Not at all difficult to prepare.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The slow but persistent rise in the price of gold is being watched closely in New York financial circles—and doubtless in Washington official circles.

They remember the dollar's troubles last fall when the gold price rose to $40.60 on the London market, compared with the official $35 an ounce here.

Talk Groundless

Talk of a possible devaluation of the dollar was heard—and later proved groundless. But Washington still is working at seeing that another dollar crisis doesn't arise.

This latest upsurge in the price of gold coincides with a drop in U.S. exports, after their strong advance in the earlier months of 1961 had helped bring the outgo of dollars from this country closer in line with the inflow of dollars, although there is still a deficit.

Attractiveness of gold for investors also is coming at a time when U.S. government spending is rising, bringing with it an increase in the prospective U.S. Treasury deficit.

All of this doesn't threaten the value of the dollar now. But it makes for some nervousness lest it might give the dollar some trouble in the future.

Still unsolved is the long-range problem of balancing our outflow of dollars for imports, foreign aid, travel, and overseas investment with the inflow of dollars from exports, services and earnings on investments.

Tied to European Woes

Right now, however, the rise in gold prices in London to the highest point since late winter is attributed to European problems rather than American ones.

First was a British financial crisis which weakened the pound sterling, caused a flight of investment money from London and led to austerity measures by the British government.

Next came the Berlin crisis. This is reported to be causing some holders of West German investments, both here and abroad, to be turning in their funds for gold—just in case.

Since early July the price of gold on the London market—after about five months of stability—has gone up 10⅝ c ents an ounce. This week it reached $35.18⅞.

That price is high enough to make it profitable to buy gold from the U.S. Treasury and ship it to London for sale on the open market.

But New York bankers haven't reported any such move of consequence by the foreign national banks that are entitled to buy from the Treasury.

New York bankers say this country and its European friends should be able to handle the present steady upward creep in gold prices and to ward off any such gold rush as upset world financial markets last fall. At least they hope so.

Hults Won't Predict

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—"Making fatality predictions always seems to me like consigning your fellow citizens to death," William S. Hults, state motor vehicle commissioner, said today.

Hults announced that he had abandoned the practice of predicting the number of fatalities on the state's highways over holiday weekends. He urged motorists to drive carefully over the Labor Day weekend.

Governors Pledge Action to Solve Transit Problems

NEW YORK (AP)—The governors of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut — promising "action" on metropolitan area transportation—have named a tristate transportation committee. The committee, as if to prove the claim, went into a session at once.

To Meet Sept. 18

The group scheduled a meeting in Washington Sept. 18 with representatives of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and the U.S. Housing and Home Finance Agency, and it promised to have its first recommendations ready by Nov. 1.

A comprehensive, long-range report on the area's transportation problems is due in two years.

Appointment of the committee was announced Wednesday by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and John Dempsey of Connecticut.

At about the time the commmittee was being set up, the Interstate Commerce Commission said in Washington it was in favor of direct federal aid to keep essential but insolvent passenger trains running.

Gearing its recommendations to the financial plight of the New Haven Railroad, the ICC said it and other carriers must have federal grants to maintain needed passenger service.

New York Members

New York State members of the tristate committee are William J. Ronan, secretary to governor Rockefeller, (elected chairman of the committee); Public Works Superintendent J. Burch McMorran; Arne C. Wiprud, director of the Office of Transportation; George A. Dudley, director of the Office for Regional Development and James Felt, chairman of the New York City Planning Commission.

Mouse Fires TV Set

STAMFORD, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Al Conklin turned on her television set. A streak of fire shot out.

She called her television repairman, Mayor Paul Reed of this Delaware County village. The mayor removed the back of the set and found—a handful of peanuts and a mouse munching on insulated wires.

Tire Dealers Tax Deadline Oct. 16

Persons holding tires for sale, are now required to pay a floor stocks tax on tires and tubes, local district director James A. O'Hara announced today.

The tax official said that the recent enactment of the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1961 requires retailers, distributors, jobbers, and wholesalers of highway vehicle tires and tread rubber and inner tubes for all tires except bicycle tires, to file a floor stocks tax return.

According to the director, any person holding these items for sale, must report his July 1 stock inventory on Form 3174. The return and payment must be filed on or before October 16, to avoid penalties and interest that may otherwise be incurred.

Supplies of Form 3174, Floor Stocks Tax Return—1961 are now available at district directors offices. Any questions regarding individual cases should be referred to the nearest Internal Revenue District Office.

Brazil Orders Military Quell Goulart Backers

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's interim government today ordered units of the army, navy and air force into action to subdue southern supporters of leftist Vice President Joao Goulart.

Goulart claims he is the rightful president of Brazil in view of the resignation of President Janio Quadros. The wavering national Congress finally has voted to accept him as president but has not decided how much power he should have.

Will Intercept Him

A source close to the Air Ministry said military planes left Porto Alegre, capital of Goulart's southern stronghold, to escort him to some place in Brazil and aircraft loyal to the government had been ordered to patrol the frontier and intercept him.

A communique from the military-dominated National Telecommunications Commission Council said units of the army, air force and navy were taking part in an "action in force" against Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil's southernmost state.

In defiance, the "Voice of Legality", a chain of Rio Grande do Sul radio stations, announced that all civilians in the state had been called to arms. Porto Alegre, the state capital, was reported surrounded by trenches and barricades.

Rio Grande do Sul's governor, Leonel Brizzola, is Goulart's brother-in-law. Gov. Brizzola and Gen. Jose Machado Lopes, head of the army in the state, have proclaimed their support of the vice president.

Lopes Defies Order

Machado Lopes Wednesday defied an order from acting President Ranieri Mazzilli relieving him of command of the 60,000-man southern army, considered one of the best-trained and equipped of Brazil's four armies. Only the army in Rio de Janeiro is larger.

In addition, Rio Grande do Sul is the home of fight-loving gauchos—cowboys—who roam the flat wheat-growing and cattle-raising state.

Apparently the only air force unit—or most of it—deserted Brizzola and Machado Lopes, however.

The southern state has no navy. But Brizzola sank three barges in the entrance to Porto Alegre's inland harbor, temporarily blocking it, when Brazilian warships were reported en route there four days ago.

Headquarters of the army ordered into action against the Goulart-supporting state, is at Sao Paulo, nearly 600 miles northeast of Porto Alegre.

Between Sao Paulo and Rio Grande do Sul are the small states of Parana and Santa Catarina, which are nominally under the command of Machado Lopes.

The Brazilian War Ministry said neither state is supporting Rio Grande do Sul, however.

Could Draw Supplies

Porto Alegre has a population of about 600,000 and the state has about three million people. It has few industries, but in a civil war might draw supplies from neighboring Argentina and Uruguay.

The wealthy former gaucho, Goulart, 42, who is the center of Brazil's presidential storm, left Panama for Buenos Aires. He said he would make stops at Lima, Peru, and in Montevideo, Uruguay, to communicate with friends in Brazil before deciding on his next move.

He was on a tour of the Far East and Red China when Quadros resigned last Friday, throwing the nation into turmoil.

The start of military action was announced shortly after Congress voted overwhelmingly to set up a parliamentary system of government with Goulart as president. But wavering under pressure from Army Minister Odylio Denys and the air force and navy chiefs, the lawmakers could not decide whether the presidency would be a powerful post or only a figurehead.

Abolishes System

A joint session in Brasilia voted 298-14 to amend the constitution, abolish the present republican form of government paralleling the U.S. system, and "respect all present elective offices," meaning Goulart's vice presidency and his right to the presidency.

The question of the presidential powers was to be debated in separate sessions of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate later today. The issue was whether to have a parliamentary system with a strong president as in France, or a system like Italy's where the presidency is a ceremonial office and the governing power lies with the prime minister elected by Parliament.

Congress affirmed its support of Goulart's succession despite the service chiefs' earlier rejection of a proposal to let the vice president return as a figurehead president and a statement from the military leaders reiterating their opposition to Goulart's return to the country.

The military chiefs in a manifesto charged that Goulart was tied too closely to the Communists and said his return as president would set off "a disquieting period of agitation, of tumult and even bloody clashes in cities and towns."

DecisionReserved

publican candidates for supervisor and alderman in three wards on the primary ballot in wards where designations allegedly had not been filed within the proper time.

Commissioners Disagree

Under Section 148 of the Election Law, a new statute, candidates were designated in the three wards where the vacancies existed. Republican Election Commissioner Seymour Werbalowsky held the petitions good while Democratic Commissioner Joseph Epstein declared them void. Justice Bookstein was asked to determine the matter.

Appearing for the Republican City Committee and arguing for the acceptance was Howard C. St. John. Arthur B. Ewig, who was not present but submitted papers, appeared for Commissioner Epstein. County Attorney Arthur C. Davis Jr., appeared for the Board of Elections.

Promises Quick Answer

Justice Bookstein directed that all briefs be filed by 10 a. m. today and promised a speedy decision.

In the Liberal Party matter, petitioner Joan Parker, Fifth Ward, was represented by Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., and Francis Martocci appeared as attorney of record for the Liberal Party.

Involved in that matter is the question of which party candidates in the city should receive endorsement and petitioner Parker seeks to have that contest determined by primary election.

Appeal Likely

The executive committee chairman of the Liberal Party has given endorsement to Democratic candidates, including Mayor Radel, Alderman-at-Large Kaye and City Judge Klein. The petitioner Parker, seeks to have an open primary at which the enrolled voters in the Liberal Party may make the decision as to who the Liberal Party candidates for those offices will be in November. Election commissioners are split as to whether her petition is good and the court has been asked to decide.

No matter what Justice Bookstein's decision in the matter may be, in all probability there will be an appeal to a higher court by the losing party.

Justice Bookstein indicated a decision might be forthcoming today or tomorrow since time is the element. In order to prepare Primary ballots the Board of Elections must have a decision momentarily.

Operation Able Leader to Talk Before Teachers

Speaker for the Tuesday morning general faculty meeting of teachers in the Kingston Consolidated School District will be Dr. Bernard A. Kaplan, associate in education and guidance coordinator of Operation Able.

This was announced today by Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools, who said the session is to start at 9:30 a. m. in Kingston High School auditorium.

Operation Able of which Dr. Kaplan is coordinator is a special New York State program for the culturally deprived students in selected school districts of the state.

Dr. Kaplan, who will be the state's representative working with the Kingston schools in their participation in the project has taught graduate courses at Albany State Teachers College and Russell Sage. He has written a number of professional articles for various departmental and journal publications.

A native of Hancock, he has received three degrees from Cornell University, including a Bachelor of Arts degree in chemistry, Master of science in education with a major in guidance, and a Ph. D. degree with a major in guidance and personnel administration.

Dr. Kaplan has taught mathematics and chemistry at the high school level and has been a high school counselor and director of guidance in New York State public schools.

He went to the New York State Education Department in 1954 as a member of the Bureau of Guidance and has been affiliated with them for the past seven years. He has served as a field supervisor in the New York State secondary schools and has acted as coordinator of the Bureau's activities in the area of identification and guidance of academically talented students.

Firemen Asking Talk on Salary, Work Conditions

Consideration by Mayor Edwin F. Radel and aldermen of salary and working conditions in the fire department as well as those in the police force, is asked by the fire board, it was revealed today.

Five police department members in its bid to the police board Aug. 17 for consideration of salary schedules, overtime pay, along with other proposals, were advised that the board with the mayor and a Common Council committee would consider them prior to preparation of the department budget.

The fire board, composed of Edward Finch, president, Tibor Tomshaw and John N. Worf, commissioners, with Fire Chief James M. Brett as secretary, in a letter dater Aug. 30 and addressed to the mayor, wrote:

"We noted in recent press releases that both you, and members of the Common Council contemplate conferring with a representative group from the police department to negotiate salary and working conditions affecting that department.

"At the last regular meeting of this board, we unanimously voted to petition your honor to accord the same consideration to the membership of this department.

"We believe you are aware that traditionally through the years, both departments has always enjoyed relative equality in these matters.

"We therefore respectfully request you and your administration to include representation from this department in any negotiations regarding salary or working conditions that you contemplate."

Reports Car Struck

James V. Davide, of Box 231, East Kingston, notified police Wednesday night that his car had been struck while parked on Broadway near East Chester Street by another car and its driver failed to stop. The other car, it was noted, was headed up Broadway. Davide reported a damaged front fender.

House Hits Car

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A house struck a car here, damaging the vehicle to the extent of about $200.

The five-room bungalow was being moved under police direction when it smacked into a parked car on a street.

CHARLES COBURN

Veteran Actor Is Dead at 84, Last Play Set Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Veteran actor Charles Coburn, whose distinguished face, gruff voice and ready wit were familiar to audiences for more than half a century, is dead at 84.

Coburn died of heart failure at Lenox Hill Hospital Wednesday, shortly after undergoing minor throat surgery. He had entered the hospital Monday for a checkup.

Movie Career at 60

An energetic man more active than many half his age, Coburn came here after completing a 6-day run only Sunday night in an Indianapolis production of "You Can't Take It With You." The play drew the largest audiences in the Avondale Playhouse's 8-year history.

The stage performance was the last for a man who found his calling, his first success and the great love of his life on the stage.

He began a movie career at the age of 60 and also appeared on radio and television, but he never lost his great devotion to the live theater, and he felt it was the only true training ground for actors.

He left a fulltime career on the stage for the screen in 1937, on the death of his first wife, the former Ivah Wills. He had met her in 1905 while playing Orlando to her Rosalind in a touring company's production of "As You Like It."

Thereafter, the two became a theatrical love legend. Her death came as a great blow to Coburn, and he did not remarry until 22 years later when, in a Las Vegas ceremony he wed Winifred Jean Clements Natzka, a widow exactly half his age. She was with him at his death.

Native of Georgia

Coburn's versatility as an actor was as polished as the monocle he wore to combat astigmatism, and the dignity he brought to his craft was as real as his ever-present cigar.

Charles Douville Coburn was born in Macon, Ga., on June 19, 1877. He began his career at 14 as a program boy in the famous old Savannah Theater and became the theater's manager three years later. At the age of 19, he came to New York, doing odd jobs to support himself until a Broadway opportunity came along.

In later years, Coburn was most often seen in films as a sporty old gent with a roving eye for the ladies and a tongue fast with quips.

In 1943, he won an Academy award for a supporting role in "The More The Merrier." He also received award nominations for roles in "The Devil And Miss Jones" (1941) and "The Green Years" (1946).

Found Dead in Home

Herman Ruehle, 73, of Pleasant Valley, who was involved in an accident a week ago and treated at Vassar Hospital for laceration of the scalp and lip, was found dead Wednesday afternoon in his home. State police at Millbrook were notified and investigated. Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. E. A. Larkin issued a verdict of death from cerebral hemorrhage and "apparently from natural causes."

Two Hold Up Bank

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Two men brandishing pistols held up the Browncroft branch of the Lincoln-Rochester Trust Co., today. The amount of cash scooped up by one of the men was not immediately determined.

Hulsair of Sawkill, who is superintendent of highways of the town of Kingston; two daughters, Mrs. Loretta E. Forster of St. Johnsville and Mrs. Margaret K. Murtha of Binghamton and three sons, Donald L., William G., and George S. Hulsair, all of Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Samuel Anthony of Woodside, L. I., and Mrs. Kenneth S. Davis of Wilmington, Del.; two brothers, Fred Webster of Connelly and Roy Webster of Los Angeles, Calif. Eleven grandchildren and several nieces and nephews also survive. Friends may call at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., 296 Fair Street, today from 7 to 9 p. m. and Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. where funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Mt. Marion Cemetery.

Hospital Paying For 12th Child Of the Mayfields

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The 12th child of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Mayfield is on the house, medically speaking.

Mrs. Mayfield gave birth at Incarnate Word Hospital Wednesday to a boy. Her other children, nine boys and two girls, also were born at the hospital.

Mayfield, 50, an insurance broker, said the hospital staff had teased him for years about having a baby on the house.

This was the first time that 12 children from one family had been born at Incarnate Word, so hospital officials decided to take care of medical costs for mother and baby.

Mayfield recalled that when their first child was born 17 years ago the doctor remarked "If I could have babies like that, I'd have a dozen of them."

Mitchell Favors Welfare Review

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's board investigating public welfare, backed by approval from diverse factions, vows to determine "what is required for the future in order that public assistance to those truly in need may be provided with competence and compassion."

Rockefeller Wednesday named a Moreland Act commission to look into all phases of public welfare, including the role of work programs for relief recipients.

To head the commission, Rockefeller named S. Hazard Gillespie Jr., a lawyer who has concerned himself with the underprivileged in East Harlem, one of the state's worst trouble spots.

Gillespie, a Republican, said Wednesday night the commission would "proceed on a basis we trust will provide results of lasting benefit for the state and particularly to those persons whose need is a matter of concern to every citizen."

Discoverer Satellite Is Launched

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The latest Discoverer satellite is orbitting the earth every 91.4 minutes, awaiting a signal from earth to eject an instrument capsule over the Pacific.

The satellite is the 29th in the long Discoverer series, and the 19th to achieve orbit.

Space scientists haven't decided yet when to press the ejection button. They're still sticking by what they said after launch Wednesday —that the capsule will be dropped in one to four days.

Air Force planes from Hawaii will try to snag the falling capsule as it parachutes into a target area near the Hawaiian Islands. There have been four such recoveries in the history of the series.

Eight Are Dead In Collision of Auto and Trailer

BETHEL SPRINGS, Tenn. (AP)—Eight persons—six children and two adults—were killed early today when their car collided head on with a tractor-trailer truck near this western Tennessee town.

The victims, all Negroes, were not identified immediately.

Officers said their car bore license plates from Escambia County in Alabama. They were believed to be members of the same family.

Investigating officers said the driver of the car apparently went to sleep. His car crossed the center line and went under the huge truck. The driver of the truck was not injured seriously.

Bethel Springs is 22 miles south of Jackson.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Stephen J. Leskie wish to thank relatives, friends, neighbors, and 156th Artillery, New York State National Guard, for their many courtesies, kind expressions of sympathy, floral tributes and many Mass cards received in our recent bereavement.

Twilight Fruit Meeting Is Set For Sept. 5th

A "twilight" fruit meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 7 p. m. at the Hepworth cold storage plant at Milton, William H. Palmer, Ulster County Agricultural Agent, announces.

Ulster and Orange County growers are invited to this important pre-harvest meeting.

Prof. Dave Blanpied will discuss picking dates for McIntosh quality and use of stop-scald. Prof. Ben Dominick will report on crop prospects and estimated harvest of apples by variety and area and Dr. M. B Hoffman will discuss apple grading laws and especially interpretation of visible residue.

The program of the evening is a most interesting and informative one which growers cannot afford to miss.

Soft Music Boon For Market Sales

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The soft-sell really works when it comes to canned music among the canned goods, a Cornell University study of music at four supermarkets discloses.

An industrial psychology class found dollar-values of purchases increased when soft rather than loud music was played over loudspeakers. Eight-four per cent of the cart-pushers liked music while they shopped, with the largest group —31.3 per cent — favoring light classical music.

Casualty

TUSCUMBIA, Ala. (AP)—Marshall James Grigby of Killen, whose car was involved in a traffic accident, was terrified when he saw the other driver's head smeared with crimson.

Crigsby quickly called an ambulance, which rushed M. A. Chandler, 81, of Corinth, Miss., to a hospital. He was treated for bruises—and wiped clean of the watermelon which splattered him in the collision.

Oneida to Vote On Manager Plan

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) —Voters in Oneida County, scene of a state-ordered probe of vice and corruption, will decide in the fall whether to adopt a county-manager type government.

The county board of supervisors unanimously approved last night a proposal setting up a streamlined county government with a separate executive branch.

The proposal was first introduced several years ago.

The state appointed a special prosecutor in 1958 to investigate vice and crime in Utica and the county. The State Investigation Commission had reported that the then district attorney was not capable of doing a clean-up job.

Under the proposed county-manager form of government, the chief executive would be elected for a 4-year term.

He would take over executive duties now performed by the board of supervisors and other county officials.

Columbia County Fair at Chatham Opens on Friday

CHATHAM — The gates will open here Friday on the 121st consecutive exhibition of the oldest county fair in New York State. Running through Labor Day, the Fair program is expected to draw upwards of 50,000 patrons, for whom a sparkling array of displays and entertainment has been arranged.

Youth Day to open the Fair on Friday, will feature a program slanted toward the kiddies of the county. Special prices will prevail all day for midway rides, a personal appearance of TV's Old Skipper has been arranged and there will be 4-H award presentations, pet shows and a gymkahana expected to attract scores of horses and riders.

The volunteer firemen of the entire area will hold forth Saturday afternoon with a parade of more than 2,000 uniformed men and women, from some 30 fire companies and women's auxiliaries, at least 18 drum and bugle corps and bands and more than 50 fire engines.

Sunday's program will be a veritable three-ring-circus. A colorful exhibition of drum and bugle corps will feature the New York State Fusiliers of Gloversville. There will be three dashes of racing ponies. The annual Chatham Fair Horse Pulling competition will be held. Miss Rheingold will make a personal appearance on the fair grounds between 1 and 6 p. m.

Monday's special attraction will be harness racing in the afternoon and the annual Schoolgirl Queen coronation at night.

Everyday the fair midway will feature the O. C. Buck Shows and there will be a free grandstand show each day and night.

Schenley whiskies are older whiskies

Age makes the difference. The older the whiskey the better the whiskey. The straight whiskies in these Schenley brands are aged 2-6 years longer than competitive brands that cost the same.

IMPORTED O.F.C.—8 years old, this fine Canadian is 2 years older than other leading Canadians, yet costs no more.

CHAMPION BOURBON—8 year old Kentucky Straight Bourbon—2 to 4 years older than competitors at same price.

SCHENLEY RESERVE—100 month old straight whiskies blended with grain neutral spirits. 2 to 4 year age advantage.

SIR JOHN—10 year old straight whiskies blended with grain neutral spirits. Competitor, 6 years old, costs more.

IMPORTED O.F.C. 12 YEAR OLD—Twice the age of leading Canadians yet costs little more. It's truly the finest Canadian.

SILLER HAMS
The Finest, Tastiest HAMS Available!

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U. S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two long-time holiday favorites, turkey and smoked ham, are offered by many supermarkets this week, enabling housewives to take some of the labor out of Labor Day weekend.

Pre-cooked chicken, an item which removes practically all of the labor out of cooking, is featured in some Eastern chains.

Some stores, obviously with picnics in mind, offer such items as luncheon meat, frankfurters and sliced boiled ham at reduced prices. Offerings of rib roast, steak and lamb are pretty well scattered.

Best buys among vegetables to go with whatever meat is selected run to such items as carrot, corn, cucumbers, eggplant, endive, escarole, Eastern yellow onion, peppers, potatoes, tomatoes and watercress. Celery and potatoes are outstanding buys, too, in areas where they're available from nearby fields.

Others in the good buy class include beans, broccoli, cauliflower, green onions, radishes, lettuce, okra, parsnips, spinach, squash and sweet potatoes.

Outstanding fruit buys are cantaloupes, limes, Thompson seedless grapes, lemons, watermelons and honeydew melons.

You can get good buys, too, among apples, blueberries, peaches, pears, plums, prunes, nectarines and California oranges.

Western Fame

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — University of Arizona Prof. Jean R. Beck returned from a trip to Ravensbury, Germany, and reported the municipal band had a number called "The Arizona March."

Dr. Beck asked how the Germans had selected such a title. The bandmaster answered:

"We're quiet familiar with Arizona. That's where many of those western movies are filmed."

...oh, boy! Homemade beans!

Confidentially, they're Grandma Brown's

Grandma Brown's Beans have a homemade, country kitchen flavor, entirely different—not at all like the drowned-in-sauce taste of soupy "city beans." And Grandma Brown's Beans are even baked differently—the old-fashioned way, in small open pans.

When you heat these beans, you'll fill your kitchen with the aromas that say homemade. And the taste says it, too.

Heat them as they come from the can... or use your imagination to create a hearty main-course casserole by mixing in some molasses or brown sugar and adding a few morsels of ham, bacon, or salt pork. It's that simple! Or, for a quick lunch, try spreading a layer of Grandma Brown's Home Baked Beans on a slice of buttered toast.

They're so good you'll be proud to claim these beans for your very own. No one need know, unless you tell them, "Confidentially, they're Grandma Brown's."

SPECIAL OFFER!

ONLY $1 for this attractive, cameo-design Glasbake casserole dish—in the 1½-quart size for a family-style Grandma Brown's Bean casserole. Just send $1.00 with the label from any can of Grandma Brown's Home Baked Beans to Grandma Brown, Mexico, New York.

Building Giant Crane for Cement Plant at Ravena

The largest known overhead traveling bucket crane ever scheduled for installation in a cement plant is now being constructed by the Harnischfeger Corporation, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Featuring the revolutionary, new walk-in pressurized girder design announced by Harnischfeger three months ago, the huge crane will have a 22-ton capacity and will cost in excess of $250,000. It will be installed in the new $64 million Atlantic Cement Company plant now under construction at Ravena.

The new plant is reported to be "the largest in the free world" by its owners, the Cerro Corporation and the Newmont Mining Company. The Newmont Company is an investment managing firm, while Cerro is an international mining company with varied interests in copper, oil, and gas in Latin America.

The cement mill, scheduled for complete operation in 1963, will have a 10,000,000 barrel annual capacity.

Located on a 2,000-acre site, the plant will have a loading station on the Hudson River for ocean-going vessels. The site also has a limestone reserve large enough to sustain production for over 100 years.

The huge crane will carry a seven yard capacity bucket over a 150-foot span. Its walk-in design places all necessary operating electrical and electronic equipment inside the main girder of the crane. Inside placement of these elements eliminates the necessity for an auxiliary girder and platform with separate electrical control housings, and reduces original equipment costs and simplifies maintenance.

The job of feeding the millions of tons of bulk raw material to the cement-making and processing machinery will be the giant crane's chief function in the new mill.

An assured source of raw materials and an efficient, well-engineered plant with low unit costs, which, when combined with low-cost water transportation, would permit competitively priced cement, prompted Cerro and Newmont to combine forces in the Ravena venture.

Atlantic Cement officials claim that capital and operating costs per barrel would be "among the lowest in the world." Atlantic Cement is headed by Swiss-born Dr. Bernard Ulrich, formerly executive vice president of St. Lawrence Cement Company, Clarkson, Ontario, Canada.

Highland Child Hurt in Mishap Caused by Bee

A bee was blamed for a three car collision which injured a 5-year-old Highland girl in Poughkeepsie on Tuesday.

Debra Ann Mullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Mullen, 13 Wilcox Avenue, Highland, was a passenger in a car driven by her father on Forbus Street, Poughkeepsie, when a bee flew into the vehicle.

Mullen lost control. His car was in collision with parked cars owned by Mrs. Florence Nickerson, 32 Forbus Street, and Raymond L. Beasimer, LaGrangeville, police said.

Mullen's daughter was treated by a physician for a nose injury.

56 East Germans Bolt to Freedom Since Line Shut

BERLIN (AP)—Fifty-six members of the East German armed forces have fled to the West since the Communists sealed the border in Berlin 19 days ago, West Berlin police reported today.

Most bolted while building barriers of barbed wire and concrete to stop other refugees.

The latest member of the Communist police to desert swam Berlin's Teltow Canal Wednesday. Police reported gun fire was directed at him, but the Red gunners missed. They had killed two others trying to swim the canal.

Pilars Give Cover

A driver hauling barbed wire for the fence along the canal also managed to swim across while the attention of guards was distracted. The pillars of a broken down bridge gave him cover.

The Communist press began whipping up enthusiasm for Friday's visit by Soviet cosmonaut Gherman Titov. East Berliners were ordered to put out flags on their homes, in the streets and on factories.

The Communist press also disclosed the formation of fanatical youth squads "to keep order." These semimilitary groups are composed of members of the "Free German Youth," the organization's paper reported.

Reports have reached the West in recent days of the youth groups ripping down television antennas tuned to the West, beating up critics of the regime and denouncing others to the police.

West Television Taboo

East German authorities also announced a campaign to prevent their people from seeing the West on television. Jail sentences were also decreed for East Germans who invite friends to see TV from West Germany.

Those who receive the programs on their sets can easily be spotted by the direction in which their antennas are pointed. For one station near Munich, special vertical antennas must be erected.

Today the East Germans raised their hammer and compass banner on top of the Brandenburg Gate, the symbol of divided Germany.

For years, West Germans have been wearing tiny reproductions of the gate on their lapels to demonstrate against the division of their country and to show their close links with Berlin. But the gate itself lies inside East Berlin.

About 13,000 West Berliners who earn their incomes from the Communists were faced with financial ruin by a new West Berlin ruling. The city will no longer accept their inflated Communist currency at face value.

For 12 years, West Berlin has made up the difference between the Communist money paid to the 13,000, and the hard Western currency they needed to pay their bills. It takes five East marks to buy one West mark on the open market.

Radel Receives Replica of Scroll Sent to President

Mayor Edwin F. Radel, as a charter member of The Mayors of America Unity Program, today reported receiving a replica of the Unity Scroll presented to President Kennedy.

It is a declaration from 1,833 mayors who expressed their support "in whatever sacrifice the cause of fredom may demand."

Presented last May 25 in Washington, it was headed, "Declaration of Unity to President John F. Kennedy From The Mayors of America," and said:

"In recognition of the awesome responsibility borne by you as President of the United States in guiding the destiny of our nation in this critical period of world turmoil, we, as mayors of the nation, pledge you our support and encouragement in your quest to preserve freedom and maintain peace with honor.

"We stand with you. The nation stands with you in these days of fateful decision, determined to make whatever sacrifice the cause of freedom may demand.

"May God grant us the wisdom and courage to prevail in the cause of peace with justice for all mankind."

It was signed in behalf of the group by Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, of Cleveland, a co-chairman in promoting the program.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) —A slight flurry by defense-related issues greeted news that Russia has decided to resume testing of nuclear weapons as the stock market moved a bit higher early this afternoon. Trading was quiet.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .30 at 255.10 with industrials up .70, rails up .20 and utilities down*.20.

The major steelmakers opened down moderately as a result of President Kennedy's recommendation that a steel price increase be avoided this fall. Some recovered later and posted gains.

Most of the aircraft-missiles, rocket fuel stocks and defense-related electronics made advances but the majority of these were limited.

Red Move

The Express, only British morning paper to comment, said a further spurt in the nuclear arms race is now inevitable.

Strongest initial editorial reaction elsewhere in Europe came from Stockholm's Aftonbladet, a paper owned by labor unions which frequently reflects the views of the Socialist government.

Difficult to Understand

Aftonbladet said: "The Russian decision to resume the nuclear tests is ruthless and difficult to understand. It seems to be a political misjudgment of gigantic proportions to resume the tests at this time. This is hypocrisy beyond all boundaries."

The Paris morning paper Aurore commented on "the cynicism which marks Soviet policies."

In Japan, only nation ever hit by an atomic attack, the pro-Western government issued a statement saying that the Soviet Union "should take into consideration the great effect on the future of mankind that its decision will have, and it should cooperate with other countries in reaching an agreement to ban nuclear weapons.

The ruling Liberal-Democratic party noted that the announcement said the Soviet government was compelled to resume tests "because of the pressure of international tension centering on Berlin. But we Japanese well know who brought about the Berlin crisis."

JFK Not Too . . .

the crowds that greeted him and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson on their morale-boosting trip to West Berlin 10 days ago.

Kennedy hardly cushioned a rap at Nixon and Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the Republican national chairman. He said he had no comment on Nixon's criticism of sending additional troops to West Berlin as useless and possibly self-defeating, nor on Miller's statement that the Kennedy administration is taking a general attitude of appeasement.

The President quickly added, however, that anyone aware of the vast power that could be triggered by either side in the Berlin dispute should "be careful in attempting to take any political advantage out of our present difficulties."

The West could not hold Berlin against a frontal Soviet assault, Kennedy said.

He made these observations on other topics:

Other Topics

School Aid—Admitted defeat in his effort to get Congress to provide funds this year for school construction but promised, "We will be back next year" School children, he maintained, and not the administration were the losers this year.

Steel Prices — Called on producers to absorb wage increases scheduled for October in order to avert another inflationary spiral. He said his economic advisers believe the steel companies can shoulder the increases without boosting prices and still show a good profit.

Auto Negotiations — Held the government aloof from talks between the United Auto Workers and General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Unemployment—Despite a "tremendous economic recovery," a hard core of unemployment still exists. He urged Congress to pass his bill for retraining jobless workers, but said other measures may have to be considered.

Foreign Aid — Called on Congress to appropriate as nearly as possible all the $7.2 billion that would be authorized over the next five years in a compromise Senate-House Conference Committee recommendation.

St. John Has

Park and I find it becoming increasingly difficult to devote the proper time to the chairman's office which that position demands. My position as president of the bank requires my entire attention to properly carry on the functions of that position. I want to emphasize most strongly that you and the Republican Committee of Ulster County and City have and always will have my active support and will render any service within my power short of being chairman.

"I would thank you at this time for having given me the opportunity and the honor of working with you as city chairman, and let us all aim for a tremendous Republican victory in November.

Expresses Regret

In accepting the resignation of Judge Sterley, County Chairman Wilson, who also serves Ulster County as state assemblyman, said:

"It is with deep regret that I accept the resignation of John B. Sterley as chairman of the City of Kingston Republican Committee. Knowing of John's great regard for the responsibilities of his office as city chairman, I can appreciate the fact that his increased responsibilities as president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association makes it imperative that he devote full time to the expanded operations of that association.

"His assurance that his devotion and continued efforts for the party he has served so well for so many years is indeed reassuring. I am therefore pleased to name Judge John B. Sterley as the Assistant to the Chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee. This is a position which I held in the Central Committee for many years when the late Dr. Devine of Ellenville was vice chairman of the County Committee. I am sure that Judge Sterley will prove to be of inestimable value in this position."

13 Solons Urge Resumption of Nuclear Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) —Thirteen senators teamed up today as sponsors of a resolution urging resumption of U.S. nuclear weapons tests in stern response to the Soviet Union's action in smashing the moratorium on such trials.

The proposal was introduced by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., as the Senate opened its session in a mood of icy anger over the threatening gesture from Moscow.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the assistant GOP leader, spoke the views of many of his colleagues in accusing Soviet Premier Khrushchev of "sham and hypocrisy."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader, told the Senate that Khrushchev's announcement raises a new danger in a world ridden with crisis.

"I hope we will not become stampeded and will think it through," Mansfield said.

"What has happened should not surprise us," Mansfield continued.

He said the Russians have shown no real disposition to put a ban on nuclear testing and Western proposals aimed at an agreement have been rejected time and time again.

He said Khrushchev's announcement is another "tactic tied to the everpresent crisis over Berlin" and other crises elsewhere with which the Kremlin may confront the free world.

Mansfield said that while the West is supposed to have won a psychological victory in this case, he hopes the Soviets will alter their course and that "somehow, some way, an agreement can be reached."

"The sham and hypocrisy of the Soviet Union stands out in bold relief before all the world," Kuchel told the Senate. "I urge the government of the United States to demonstrate to the world now that this sham and hypocrisy compels this country, in the interest of its own security, to perfect its own nuclear arsenal."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former Air Force secretary, said he is worried "about the way we talk about Soviet Russia's resumption of testing."

"We don't know if the Soviets ever stopped testing," he said. "Why should we assume they are not testing?"

One Report costs rose $100 million a year.

Along with Rockefeller, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, Republican candidate for mayor of New York City, has called for a reappraisal of welfare laws.

Other Give Statements

Similar statements have come from a variety of other officials, including Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, Education and Welfare in the administration of Democratic President Kennedy.

Most, if not all of these comments stemmed from efforts of the city of Newburgh to reduce its relief rolls through steps the city said were necessary and the state said were illegal.

The issue now is in the courts.

But state and local officials, including Rockefeller, have been reluctant to make specific statements as to what should — or should not—be done to deal with increasing welfare costs.

The issue has been pretty thoroughly dodged with calls for studies, reappraisals and new looks.

The survey report submitted to the Legislature earlier this year does not support fully either the Newburgh stand that a significant part of welfare costs stem from immorality and indolence or the view of many of the anti-Newburgh forces that present welfare laws are satisfactory.

One of the most controversial of the proposed Newburgh rules would strike from relief rolls unwed mothers who bore additional children.

Call It Punishment

Critics say this rule is an attempt to punish children for the sins of their parents. Supporters say money collected from overburdened taxpayers should not be used to finance immorality.

The consultants' report questions whether the present policy of support of unwed, deserted and other mothers with children but no husband is the best way.

"The chances of developing a responsible citizen from a deserted or unmarried mother living in a slum are virtually nonexistent," the report said.

The possibility is raised of rehabilitating unwed mothers through employment and establishing day-care centers for their children.

While this is not necessarily the final answer, the proposal and others in the survey report were hardly discussed in the Legislature.

Public officials, especially at election time, have a tendency to call for more examination of a given subject rather than to grapple with hard problems that could prove politically troublesome.

Reds Blame West

test ban talks after 338 sessions begun in October, 1958.

Soviets Also Concerned

President Kennedy charged the Soviets with endangering everyone on earth by resuming atomic testing. He called emergency conferences to consider whether the United States would follow suit.

Arthur H. Dean, chief U.S. delegate at Geneva, said Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin," has never given any indication at all that this was coming."

British delegate David Ormsby-Gore said "the verdict of the world on this will no doubt be clear."

The Soviets themselves showed concern about the possible effect of their about-face on world opinion. The Soviet statement went to great length to plead a "peace-loving policy." It directed an appeal to those foreigners "who would perhaps judge too severely the Soviet Union's carrying out tests of new types of nuclear weapons."

The Soviets said every precaution will be taken to minimize the harmful effects of the thermonuclear weapon tests on living organisms. But the program outlined appeared clearly intended to shake the Western Allies into coming to a conference table more ready than they are now to accept the Soviet demands for a German peace treaty.

Design for Super Bombs

"The Soviet Union has worked out designs for creating a series of super-powerful nuclear bombs of 20, 30, 50 and 100 million tons of TNT," said the statement issued by the official Soviet news agency Tass.

Furthermore, the statement continued, Soviet scientists have developed powerful rockets to lift the giant bombs "to any point on the globe."

The rockets were described as similar to those which shot Soviet astronauts Gherman Titov and Yuri Gagarin on space flights around the globe.

The anouncement of the super-super-bomb came as no surprise, however. Khrushchev on Aug. 9 said Soviet scientists had suggested they could build a bomb equal to 100 million tons of TNT and that he would give the signal for construction if prospects for peace did not improve.

Word Falls Like Atom

U.S. military experts said then it would be comparatively easy to build such a bomb but not worthwhile from a military standpoint since present nuclear bombs were powerful enough to wipe out an entire city.

The announcement landed on the Soviet people like an atom bomb itself. Only lately have they been given information to let them know how seriously the West is reacting to Khrushchev's Berlin proposals. This announcement appeared likely to bring it home to them with a bang.

It told them: "The Soviet people, the Soviet government cannot but reckon with the fact that, like 20 years ago, ominous clouds of war are once again overhanging the approaches to our motherland, that West Germany and the present allies of German militarists are feverishly engaged in military preparations."

Study Is

they have figured in a vast federal government survey of mines, caves and other underground areas for shelter against nuclear fallout.

The city has already gained promise of assistance from state engineers in developing the caves, and one was here earlier this month on an inspection tour. Study of the cave was proposed earlier this year by Alderman Hastings.

Bay Staters Leave

BOSTON (AP)—A movement of heavy military equipment, including artillery and tanks, started from Massachusetts for Camp Drum, N.Y., today as the 94th Pentomic Infantry Reserve Division prepared for its annual two weeks of combat training.

Advance parties starting today were led by Maj. Smith W. Collins of Haverhill.

A second echelon gets rolling Friday from six cities: Boston, Lawrence, Worcester, Brockton, Pittsfield and Springfield. The major troop movement begins Saturday, when some 6,000 reservists leave from armories throughout the state.

The main echelon will move on the Massachusetts Turnpike and the New York Thruway.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Take a Hard-Boiled Look When Profits Slip Away

Q) "I bought Raytheon, Farrington and Cohu Electronics. I had substantial profits in these stocks and watched them slip away. I wish you could tell me when to sell stocks and how to avoid getting 'married' to stocks. I buy very carefully, but after my choice is made I apparently lose my judgment." — I, E.

A) Your letter is one of the most intelligent examples of self-analysis that I have encountered. The fact that you recognize your problem in itself goes a long way toward solving it.

One of the most common of all investment faults is getting "married" to stocks. Investment situations are always changing, sometimes very rapidly, but people become sold on stocks they own and hate to admit that they have been mistaken in their judgment.

Emotion has no proper place in the handling of money. You will just have to try to cultivate an objective attitude and time your sales as intelligently as you seem to have timed your purchases. I can't lay down any rules about selling stocks, particularly such situations as you mention. Conditions vary too much.

On individual stocks I rely heavily on relative action and other chart studies which are not available to you. In general, however, it is a pretty good rule to get out of situations like yours when public enthusiasm for them mounts sharply and they get a big speculative play as Raytheon did in 1959.

If I were you, I would now hold my shares for eventual recovery.

Q) "How important is it to diversify holdings?"—S. G.

A) It is not a wise policy to put most of your money in one security, no matter how good it is. There are too many variables out of your control. Absolutely no stock is a sure-fire winner under all possible circumstances that might develop. As a rule of thumb, I usually advise investors with $10,000 or less in the market to diversify by holding three to five stocks in different industries.

Kennedy, Aides

desire of mankind for a decrease in the arms race."

Complete Hypocrisy

The statement also said the decision indicates "the complete hypocrisy of (Soviet) professions on general and complete disarmament."

The first word of the Moscow policy switch reached the President in a curious and inconslusive way. It was mentioned in a Soviet Tass news agency dispatch broadcast from Moscow to Central Russia early Wednesday afternoon Washington time. The broadcast was heard by monitors outside the Soviet Union and relayed to the State Department shortly after 4 p.m., officials later reported.

At 4 o'clock President Kennedy had started a news conference. In the course of the conference he was asked about the Geneva nuclear test negotiations. He said that Dean would stay there until the end of next week. Then he would return home and report on future prospects. After that, Kennedy said, he would make the "appropriate decision."

The news conference ended at 4:30 and Kennedy went back from the State Department conference room to the White House. Secretary of State Dean Rusk joined him there and reported on the Tass dispatch.

The dispatch, which was a commentary on Soviet military preparedness, referred to a "decision adopted by the Soviet government on carrying out experimental explosions of nuclear arms." It did not say what the decision was, though a resumption of testing was implied. Kennedy reportedly told Rusk to make the matter public. It was then given to newsmen at the State Department.

Critical Question

One critical question which was under immediate discussion in the high councils of the government here was why the Soviet government, knowing the propaganda cost, decided to take the step and to take it at this time.

A wide range of possible motivations was considered. One was that Soviet leaders have decided that they cannot get their way of persuasion and have determined to get it by force so that a friendly public opinion is no longer of primary concern to them.

Another posibility mentioned in the discussions within the government was that the Soviets decided they were behind the United States in nuclear weapons systems and the time had come for an all-out effort to catch up. In this connection they may foresee serious danger of war over Berlin.

Oslo Commuters Stop Trains in Protests

OSLO (AP)—Disgruntled commuters on Oslo's suburban Baerum Line got fed up Wednesday with seeing express trains whiz past them nearly empty while they waited for the crammed chug-alongs to pick them up.

Thirty passengers at Haslum Station lined up on the track, stopped the express and refused to move until they were let aboard the train.

The municipally owned railway company said it would look into their complaint. But meanwhile, the company said, the expresses will continue to passup the commuting stops — if no one blocks the tracks.

No Traffic Deaths Predicted, But Cites Three Ifs

ALBANY—"I predict that not a single person in New York State will lose his life in a highway accident over the Labor Day weekend," Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults said today.

But he quickly added three "ifs" to his prediction:

"If people who drink don't drive.

"If nobody speeds.

"If pedestrians stay where they belong.

"Making fatality predictions," the Commissioner explained, "always seems to me like consigning your fellow citizens to death. Sometimes I think that once we set a quota, we turn around and do our darndest to meet that quota."

"I like to think," he continued, "that our citizens are sane, responsible people who value life and will do their utmost to preserve it—not to try to meet hideous quotas of death."

Last Labor Day, 26 persons were killed in 24 New York State auto accidents, two of them double fatalities. The previous Labor Day, 34 persons died in 25 accidents, including two quadruple fatalities, one triple death, and one double fatality.

For Memorial Day weekend of 1961, Commissioner Hults predicted upwards of 20 deaths, and 27 persons died. For the Fourth of July, the Commissioner's prediction was 30 deaths, and 26 persons died.

"It's too deadly a matter to play little games about," said Commissioner Hults. "That's why I'm setting a fatality-free goal for this Labor Day."

As for the three "ifs" the Commissioner had this to say:

Drinking drivers—"They don't even realize they've had too much to drink, most of them."

Speeders—"Being in a hurry will mean more to them than their safety or well-being, or maybe they just won't watch their speedometers."

Pedestrians—"They'll be walking in a road where they shouldn't be, and along will come a car, and that will be that."

Recently I had the doubtful pleasure of watching a hard luck Joe player defend a hand.

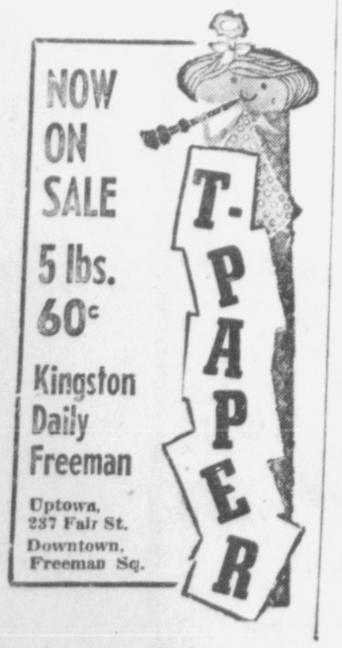

He sat East and after a short period of apparent concentration played the jack of spades on dummy's nine. He smiled triumphantly when the jack held and looked around for new worlds to conquer.

He finally shifted to a heart and South went about the business of wrapping up game and rubber. It wasn't difficult. He took the heart trick, entered dummy with a diamond, lost the club finesse to West's king and covered queen of spades with dummy king. Double dummy, he could have played low and made four odd, but four clubs, three diamonds and two hearts gave him the game.

"If only I had a third spade," complained East. "But then I am never lucky."

"If only you know what you were doing," said West. "My seven of spades was clearly the fourth best and you had a cinch to beat that hand. Go right up with the ace of spades and return the jack. That would give me a chance to cover with the queen and even though dummy ducked I could establish my last two spades while I still held the king of clubs."

West was right. This is one time that a winning finesse turned out to be a luxury.

Here are 10 trouble signals that Billy Reynolds, one of Shell's chief instructors, always stresses. If you notice any of them in your own car, check with your Shell dealer. His advice may help you head off a big repair job later on.

"How to spot trouble before it starts" is the nub of Shell's dealer training program. Here are some of the most common trouble signs that Shell dealers learn to spot:

1. Mushy brakes. When your car is standing still, push your brake pedal down with a firm, steady pressure. If the pedal feels soft and sinks all the way to the floor board, you've got trouble that should be fixed right away. Could be a leaking wheel cylinder. Or, more likely, a leaky master brake cylinder.

This is a very important test, for it can reveal a dangerous condition that may not show up in normal braking.

But a leaking brake system can fail completely when you need it most. And that's really serious. A well-trained Shell dealer can track down brake troubles quickly.

2. Wandering wheels. If your front tires show more wear on one side of the tread than the other, your wheel alignment is probably at fault.

NOTE: an out-of-line wheel can increase tire wear by as much as 50 per cent.

On the road, you may notice that your car tends to wander and is hard to keep on a straight line. This is another danger sign that suggests the need of an expert wheel alignment. Be sure to discuss it with your Shell dealer.

3. Jiggly front end. Put your foot on either bumper, and shove down hard. If your car bobs up and down for a long time before coming to rest, ask your Shell service man to check your shock absorbers.

4. Decrepit tail pipe. Take a look at your tail pipe. If it's rusted through in spots, it should be replaced. Same thing for your muffler. A worn-out exhaust system can make your car roar like a wounded hippo. Worst of all, you run the danger of exhaust fumes seeping into the passenger compartment. Your Shell dealer can take care of the whole problem in short order.

5. "Bloated" radiator hose. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked, swollen or worn thin in spots, they can fail at any time and cause your engine to overheat. Replacing old or damaged hoses is a simple task for any Shell dealer. But it could save you serious engine trouble on the road.

6. Marred windshield. Feel the rubber blades on your windshield wipers. If they're hard or frayed, they can do more harm than good. A ragged blade leaves streaks. A hardened blade can scratch and scar.

Ask your Shell dealer to check the spring pressure on your wiper arms too. If the blades rest too lightly against the windshield, they can blow away from the glass and let the rain swamp your view.

7. Strange noises. Listen for squeals, squeaks, rattles and other mysterious noises. Strange noises are often warnings of trouble on the way. Violent vibrations in your car can loosen parts and cause trouble. So, don't be afraid to ask your Shell dealer about sounds you haven't heard before.

8. Under-the-hood clues. You can learn a lot just by looking at your engine. Be particularly alert for oil, fuel or water leaks. Even tiny leaks can lead to big trouble later on. You can also make a quick visual check of wiring and electrical connections. If wires are hanging loose—or insulation has worn away—see your Shell dealer.

9. Sluggish battery. If your engine turns over more slowly than usual when you start up, or if it simply balks at starting, an inspection of your electrical system is in order. A run-down battery is usually the cause of starting problems. But the real trouble may be elsewhere. Something as simple as a loose battery connection can do it. Or your voltage regulator may need a minor adjustment. Play safe and tell your Shell dealer.

10. Oil-streaked sidewalls. It may take a bit of back-bending, but it's worth the effort to check the sides of your tires you seldom see—the sides facing in. Look for signs of leaking fluid on the tire walls. A leaking brake cylinder, or faulty oil seals on the rear wheels could be causing the streaks. Both can be serious if not corrected at the first indication of trouble.

These are just a few of the danger signs that Shell dealers learn about in Shell's 123 training centers. Any trained Shell dealer knows many more. Take full advantage of his experience. Ask him to give your car a bumper-to-bumper inspection next time you stop in for a Shellubrication—or any service job.

EAST GERMAN FORCES—The Dom, church where Germany's Kaiser once worshipped, forms a backdrop as East German forces pose for their "portrait" in East Berlin.

Says SPA Won't Change Its Plan On Schoellkopf

NEW YORK (AP) —Robert Moses, chairman of the State Power Authority, says it has no intention of changing its position on development of the Schoellkopf area near the Niagara power project.

Moses made the statement Wednesday in a letter replying to a letter from Albert Elia Jr., Niagara Falls contractor and president of the Niagara Falls area Chamber of Commerce.

"It is disappointing, to say the least," Moses wrote, "to find that at this late date influential groups in Niagara Falls are still not for the frontier program, but it's not new and I guess we shall survive it."

In his letter to Moses, Elia urged reconsideration of proposals by private interests to build a luxury hotel and auditorium on part of the site of the former Schoellkopf power plant of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.

Moses favors development of a state park on the site on the bank of the Niagara River Gorge.

Moses' letter to Elia said "there is no reason whatever for the Chamber of Commerce to be astonished at the position of the Power Authority and the State Council of Parks."

"The principle on which we proceed," Moses continued, "has been fully, repeatedly and frankly publicized in reports, brochures, correspondence and releases over the past years. The program is now coming to fruition. . . ."

In the past, Moses said, "weak public officials have bowed to pressures brought by speculators and selfish private interests."

He added: "a great deal of public money has had to be spent later in cleaning up messes we inherited from timid and weak predecessors."

Railroad Retirement Interviews Scheduled

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the United States Post Office, Main Building, 496 Broadway, Room 3, Kingston on Wednesday, Sept. 13, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

He will assist the railroad worker, his wife, widow or survivors in retirement and survivor problems and answer any inquiries which they may have in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Press Talk Differs From July 25 Message to Nation

JFK's View on 'Untenable West Berlin' Reflects Realistic Assessment of Aides

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's statement that West Berlin would be "untenable if it were subjected to a direct attack by the Soviet Union" obviously reflects the coldly realistic assessment of his top military advisers.

The chief executive, in his news conference Wednesday, went on to say that it is hoped Soviet awareness of U.S. determination to defend West Berlin will prevent Soviet attack.

Troops 'Hostage' to Aim

He termed the few thousand U.S. troops in the city as "hostage to that intent."

Kennedy's comments were different from views expressed in his message to the nation on July 25.

In that speech the President said: "I hear it said that West Berlin is militarily untenable—and so was Bastogne and so, in fact, was Stalingrad. Any dangerous spot is tenable if men—brave men—will make it so."

The U.S. Army believes that it has about 6,500 brave men in West Berlin, part of the total of slightly over 13,000 American, British and French forces garrisoned the free part of the old German capital.

Such a force, in an isolated arena 110 miles from the main Allied forces in West Germany, could not be expected to hold out against the massive weight of manpower the Soviet Union could bring to bear. There are estimates that 35 to 40 Soviet divisions are located in adjacent European Russian territory.

No East German Reference

Kennedy's mention of direct attack by "the Soviet Union" was interesting in that he made no reference to East German Communist military forces. Some Bonn government officials say the East German army consists of six divisions (which they consider unreliable from the Soviet viewpoint), plus police-type units and an air force.

The defenders of West Berlin would have some basic advantages, even if temporary, including the military precept that defense is easier than attack.

Defense of West Berlin would be city-type fighting — unless of course the Communists wanted to destroy West Berlin by all-out air and ground bombardment.

In city-type fighting, some of the firepower effectiveness of modern Soviet arms could be negated, the situation coming nearer to being equalized until overwhelming masses of Soviet manpower poured in.

Could the Berlin garrison be reinforced and re-supplied after it came under attack?

Unless the Western forces wanted to shoot their way through, the closing of the highway and rail line would be simple.

Shutting off the air corridor would be more difficult, involving a decision by the Communists to start shooting down planes. This would mean fighter cover for transport planes. And fighter cover would mean more shooting.

Which would take the whole matter to the threshold of general war.

Torah Group Votes Fair Street School

A special meeting of the Talmud Torah board was held Wednesday night, called expressly to decide the suitability of a building for the Hebrew religious school.

The new location approved by the board will be at 167 Fair Street, near St. James Street. As soon as possible, new lighting and chalkboards will be installed. Plans for an open house on Sunday, Sept. 27, are being arranged by the Education Committee.

For Two Synagogues

Talmud Torah of Kingston is the educational organization of the Congregations Ahavath Israel and Agudas Achim and has the responsibility of conducting and maintaining the school facility of both synagogues.

School hours are held following public school classes on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 3:30 to 5:45 p. m. and on Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings. Formerly these classes were held at the Jewish Community Center building on Wall Street, which was recently demolished.

The school is chartered by the New York State Board of Regents and the students qualify for State Hebrew language regents credits.

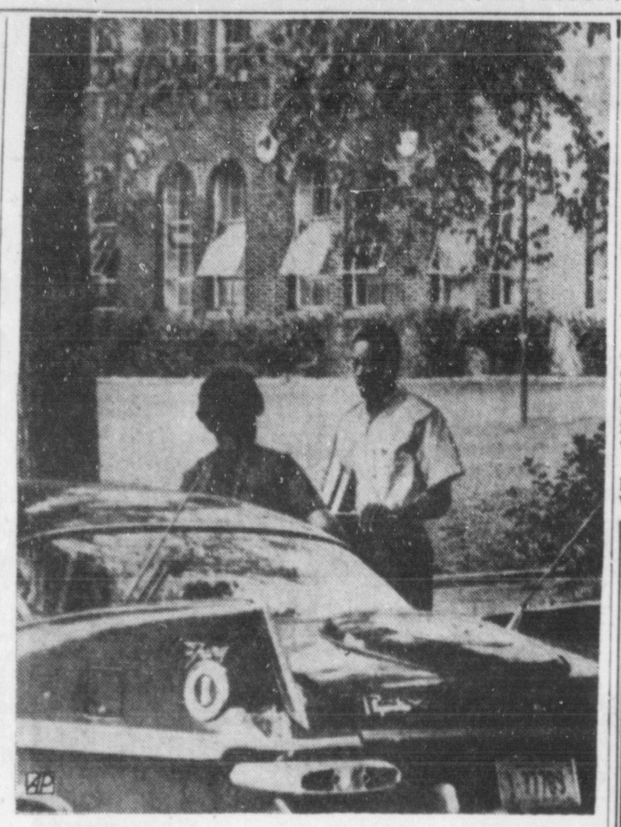

The school and its students have earned the reputation of a serious and orderly organization and should be a credit to the new neighborhood. The new location will also serve as office and meeting place for the school board and related activities to broaden the educational and cultural opportunities of the students.

Teachers for the 1961-62 term are Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport, Rabbi Jacob Rubenstein, Cantor Herman Slomowitz, Mrs. Aaron Klein, Mrs. Lotar Saluc and Mrs. Joe Colen.

Ephraim Propp is chairman of the Education Committee which will meet regularly to establish schedules and curricula for the school term which opens Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Registration of new admissions to Hebrew school and Sunday school should be arranged by mail or phone with Mrs. Rose Nussbaum of 92 Washington Avenue.

SCHOOL SEGREGATION BARRIER FALLS — Madelyn Nix, left, and Thomas Welch, two Negro pupils, arrive at Brown High School in Atlanta, Ga., to attend the first integrated classes. They are part of a group of nine students who integrated four previously white high schools. (AP Wirephoto)

Atlanta Schools Start Sessions Without Trouble

ATLANTA (AP)—Heartened by praise from President Kennedy, Atlanta city and school officials believed today the critical period was over in the desegregation of four public high schools.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield said firmly the city has survived its most serious crisis.

But police continued elaborate security measures, ready to act promptly, as they did Wednesday, when five men were arrested near the schools. One of the men said he was a member of the Nazi party.

Negroes Attend Class

Inside the schools nine Negroes —six girls and three boys—attended classes and ate in the cafeterias, shattering Atlanta's century-old tradition of segregation.

The persons most vitally concerned—the pupils and teachers—took the transition in stride, quietly and without incident.

Several of the Negroes said their reception was about what they would expect when entering any strange new school. All agreed they found no hostility or discourtesy among their schoolmates.

Several white pupils reported little attention was paid to the Negroes. Their general feeling was that no one was friendly but no one was particularly unfriendly.

Kennedy Adds Praise

By prearrangement the Negroes arrived a few minutes after the start of classes and left a little early. There were no mobs, no disorders—not even any shouting.

About the time the schools were closing for the day, President Kennedy opened his news conference in Washington with a salute to Atlanta and Georgia citizens and officials for their "courage, tolerance and above all respect for the law."

L. J. O'Callaghan, president of the Atlanta Board of Education, said the successful outcome was largely due to the good work of the teachers. "I think what has happened is really remarkable," he said.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver reiterated his opposition to integration. But, he said, "I am grateful there has been no violence. Our fight will continue to be in the courts, not on the school grounds."

Reserves to Get Word by Sept. 15

NEW YORK (AP) — Army reserve members to be called to active duty Oct. 1 will be notified no later than Sept. 15, a First Army spokesman said Wednesday.

The commanding officers of the Army reserve units affected will receive their formal notifications between Sept. 5 and Sept. 10. Each of them will announce it at the next formation of the unit.

Named Trustee On Library Board

MARTIN J. RUBIN

It has been announced by Hugh R. Elwyn, president of the board of trustees of Mid-Hudson Libraries, that Martin J. Rubin of Phoenicia has been appointed to serve the unexpired term of Alf Evers of Woodstock who resigned.

A native of New York, he attended New York University and received his LLB degree from the Brooklyn Law School in 1950.

Attorney Rubin has practiced law in Phoenicia since 1951, and is attorney for the Town of Shandaken. He has been president of the Phoenicia Library Association since 1959, is a director of the Phoenicia Rotary Club and of the Phoenicia Playhouse, Inc. He, his wife and two children reside in Shandaken.

Two other Ulster County men are on the board of the five-county library system which serves the public through 43 member libraries. They are Edward Dalby of Marlboro and Attorney Elwyn of this city.

Migrants' Life To Be Improved Under State Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—James W. Gaynor, state commissioner of housing and urban renewal, has announced a two-year program to improve the lot of migratory farm workers in New York State.

The goal is better shelter and comfort for the 20,000-odd workers who come into the state at harvest time each year. Standards for fire prevention, plumbing, occupancy and other factors will be set.

Gaynor, who announced the program Wednesday, said it would start with a survey of migrant farm worker camps in Suffolk County on Long Island.

The survey also will take in other transient housing accommodations such as motels, lodging houses, tourist trailer courts and summer recreation camps.

Gaynor's department will draft a model code for adoption—with modifications to fit local situations —by communities throughout the state.

The program will be federally aided.

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — A Tempe resident was cooking some steak on an outside grill when police arrived.

The officers said a neighbor had seen the smoke, taken a deep sniff and reported someone was breaking the city ordinance against burning garbage.

Three Are Charged With Kidnaping In Race Episode

MONROE, N.C. (AP)—Two Negroes and a white youth were charged Wednesday night with kidnaping in the seizure of an elderly white couple during the height of racial tension here last Sunday.

A Union County grand jury Monday had indicted Robert F. Williams, 36, a Monroe Negro, on the capital crime of kidnaping in the same case.

Authorities said Wednesday night three members of the Monroe Non-Violent Action Committee also have been charged with kidnaping. They were identified as Richard Crowder, 19, Negro, of Monroe, president of the non-violent group; Harold Reep, 18, also a Monroe Negro, and John Cecil Lowry, 20, a white of the Bronx, N.Y.

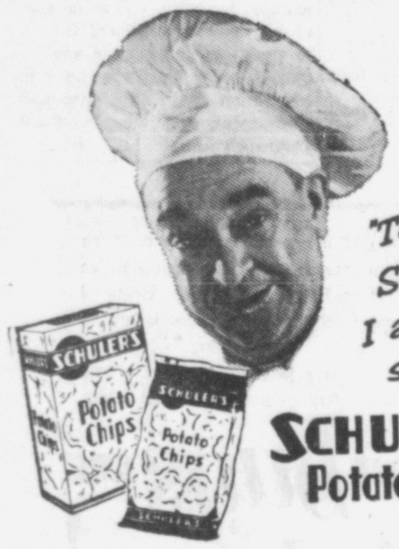

All three were being held without bond.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Bruce Stegall of Marshville were taken from their car by 200 armed Negroes, held hostage for 2½ hours and released unharmed. The kidnap charges grew out of this episode.

Work Stoppage Continues

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—A work stoppage on the $17-million bridge project between Lewiston, N.Y. and Queenston, Ont., entered its third day today after a meeting between union and management representatives produced no settlement.

Spokesmen for the union and the Robertson-Yates Construction Co. refused to comment after the talks Wednesday night.

Rondout Valley First Aid, Rescue Squad Established

A service that has long been sought in the townships of Rosendale and Marbletown has become a reality with the formation of the Rondout Valley First Aid and Rescue Squad.

Wednesday evening at Cottekill firehouse, members accepted a constitution and by-laws and elected officers. To add to the steps already taken, a rescue vehicle has already been secured and hopes were expressed at the meeting that the service will begin within the next 30 to 60 days.

Needs Contributions

The squad is a non-profit organization, subsisting wholly on voluntary contributions. A drive has been started to raise the necessary capital and any and all donations of either equipment or funds will be accepted.

The main purposes and objects of this squad will be the care of injured, wounded and sick persons in all emergencies, by giving first aid and safe transportation. The squad plans to have its men and facilities in readiness at all times.

As was tentatively stated at Wednesday's meeting the squad will function primarily within the confines of the Townships of Rosendale and Marbletown and particularly within the limits of the 10 fire districts within the two townships.

Responds in Emergency

However, it was further mentioned that the squad will respond to all emergency calls by physicians, the state police, the sheriff's department or other local law enforcement agency, of the local fire chiefs.

The rescue vehicle will at all times be staffed and manned by trained personnel who have completed an advanced, accredited American Red Cross first aid course.

Additional men are needed on the squad.

Both men and women over 21 are welcome to join. They need not of necessity have had first aid training. Applicants will be on probation four months, during which they receive all the necessary training free of charge.

Officers elected at the meeting were Herman Miller of Cottekill, president; Michael Doria of Binnewater, vice president; Agnes Miller of Cottekill, secretary, and Robert Fuhr of Stone Ridge, treasurer and secretary of the financial committee.

William Curran of Rosendale was appointed legal aid and George Mollenhauer of Tillson and Joseph Brill of Marbletown were elected to the board of directors.

Information Available

Anyone desiring to contribute funds or equipment to the squad or desiring further information about the squad may contact any of the officers or Charles Peterson in Bloomington, Robert Markle in Rosendale, Frank McGerr in Tillson, Roland Droulette in Binnewater, Ralph Temple in Cottekill, Robert Thornton in Stone Ridge or Alfred Mottle of Kripplebush.

President Miller said information about the squad beginning service will be released after the next meeting to be held at Cottekill firehouse Monday, Oct. 2, at 7:30 p. m. All interested citizens are invited to attend this meeting.

Stung by Jacket

A 13-year-old Town of Poughkeepsie boy reported to be allergic to bee stings was treated at St. Francis' Hospital Tuesday after being stung by a yellow jacket near the Arlington raceway.

Mrs. Mary Smith, of 8 Bethlehem Place, Arlington, told Town Police Chief Vincent Smith her son, Michael was fishing at the time. She told police that her son previously had lost consciousness and his head became swollen after being stung by bees.

Scores Old Guard, Enters Greene Co. Treasurer's Race

A former Republican Greene County election commissioner, Col. Oscar E. Miller of Round Top, on Wednesday scored Republican Old Guard leadership and announced his candidacy as an independent for the office of Greene County treasurer.

Col. Miller's entry makes it a three-way race for the post. He opposes the regular GOP candidate, incumbent William Donahue of Catskill and Jack Verdaasdonk of Coxsackie, Democratic nominee.

In his announcement, Col. Miller said his decision to run was motivated by what he called "Old Guard lethargy, inaction and indifference to the people."

Col. Miller, a resident of Greene County for 40 years, is part owner and operator of a Round Top resort.

Picks Albany Office

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Attorney Justin J. Mahoney said today he would station himself in Albany in the future. The office for the Northern New York district has been in Syracuse for 40 years.

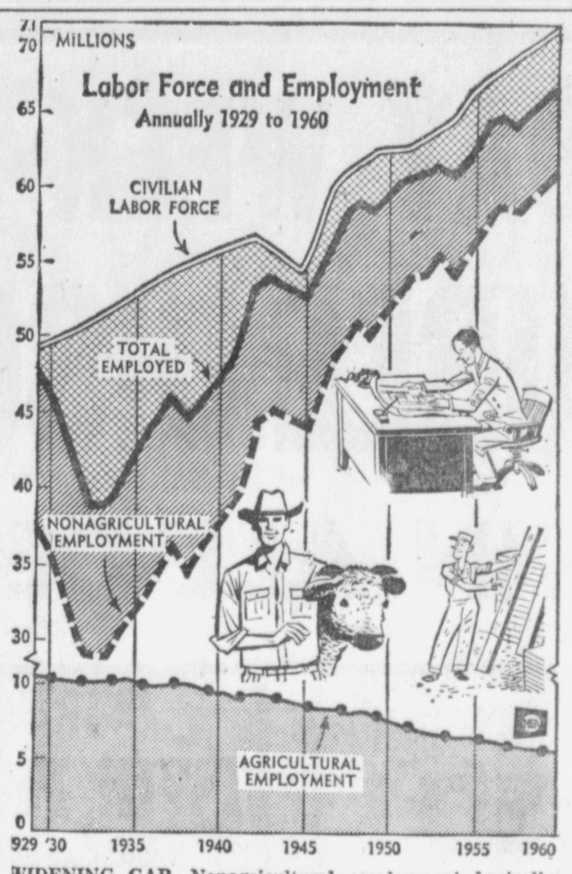

Mahoney, a Democrat who was appointed federal prosecutor for the district earlier this year, lives in Troy, adjacent to Albany.

Mahoney said he anticipated moving a portion of the Syracuse office to Albany. In the past, only one assistant attorney has worked out of the Albany office.

The central files and case records for the 29-county district will remain in Syracuse for the present, Mahoney said.

Mahoney said he had discussed with some members of his secretarial staff in Syracuse whether they would wish to work in Albany. The bulk of this staff, the only civil service appointees, is centered in Syracuse.

Power Squadron Plans Seamanship Classes in Fall

Within the next few weeks some 308 units of the United States Power Squadrons will be offering courses in piloting, seamanship and small boat operating. These courses are offered free of charge to anyone interested, male or female.

An elementary piloting course conducted by Mid-Hudson Power Squadron will be at Arlington High School, Poughkeepsie Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p. m. beginning September 13.

The USPS is an established organization primarily concerned with promoting high standards of navigation and seamanship among the boating public. Formed in 1914 by a small group of men in Boston, it has grown to a nationwide organization. Even Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, Okinawa and Yokohama boast of local squadrons. Canada has its Canadian Power Squadrons fashioned after the USPS and there is close cooperation between both organizations.

Upon completion of the basic course and provided the final examination is passed, male students may make application for membership in any squadron. Upon acceptance he then has a whole series of nautical studies of more advanced grades available to him. Women, upon passing the basic course can receive a certificate which also makes these advanced courses available to them.

Court Order Blocks Plans To Abandon Public School

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The St. Helena decision won't stop Louisiana from carrying out its private school plan, but the state's grant-in-aid program may have to be revamped.

This was the opinion of two key state segregation leaders today after a three-judge federal court struck down Louisiana's local option school closing law, ruling Wednesday that the state cannot close some schools and keep others open.

It issued a temporary restraining order forbidding St. Helena Parish (County) from abandoning its public schools.

Attacks Vote Systems

Rural St. Helena—some 60 miles north of New Orleans—voted overwhelmingly this summer to authorize school closing rather than accept integration. Some 1,400 white voters were registered and just over 100 Negroes.

"This sort of election," said the court, "is like having only the cats vote on a program for kittens and young mice."

Chairman Frank Voelker Jr. of the State Sovereignty Commission said the court's decision was, in part, "inaccurate, misleading and highly irritating."

But, he said, grants-in-aid are apparently entirely legal so long as public schools are not closed.

"They are not closed in Louisiana and the state is making no effort to close them," Voelker said. "I do feel, however, our present grant - in-aid program needs considerable revision."

Louisiana has set up machinery to permit students to accept tuition grants to go to private segregated schools rather than to integrated schools.

Integration has been ordered in St. Helena and East Baton Rouge parishes, but no dates have been set.

State Sen. E. W. Gravolet Jr., the vice chairman of the Sovereignty Commission, called for an immediate statewide program of grants-in-aid. Though an enabling law has been passed, the state has not implemented it.

The federal judges — all from New Orleans—ruled the state local option law violated the 14th Amendment's equal protection clause.

Hyde Park GOP Endorses Slate For Town Posts

A full slate of candidates recommended by the Town of Hyde Park Republican committee has been nominated by Republicans of the township, it was reported after a party caucus attended by 110 persons.

Those nominated were William P. Schryver for supervisor; Mrs. Lynda B. Wells, for town clerk; Hulet A. Silvernale for justice of the peace; Mrs. Agnes Bahret for receiver of taxes; Ralph Rider and Harry Hess for councilmen for four years each; Fritz Kraayenbrink for highway superintendent and Mrs. William Robert Wood for a two-year term as councilwoman.

Schryver, Mrs. Wells and Silvernale are incumbents.

School Tax Bills Are Being Mailed

School tax bills for Saugerties Central School District No. 1, Towns of Saugerties, Woodstock and Ulster, will have been mailed to all taxable inhabitants by Friday, according to Mrs. Ruth Jacobsen, tax collector.

Mrs. Jacobsen will receive payments at the Administration Building on Hill Street, Mondays through Fridays between 9 and 12 noon, and 12:30 to 3 p. m., and Friday evenings between the hours of 6 and 8 p. m. through September. After September 30, a penalty of one per cent will be charged. Hours for payment through October will be announced later.

The basic tax rate this year is $74.72 per thousand on assessed valuation. Glasco district will pay $79.31 per thousand, Woodstock, $100.17, and the Town of Ulster, $78.46.

Jayncees Learn Native Dances; Approve Budget

Mrs. Tillie Fitzpatrick was hostess to Saugerties Jayncees Monday night to discuss the budget for the coming year and plan community projects. Serving as co-hostesses were Mrs. Nancy Chesnick and Mrs. Joyce Abbott.

Mrs. Abbott was appointed chairman of the Library Story Hour which will resume on October 7 for the fall and winter months.

This Jayncee sponsored project has been carried on for the past couple years with remarkable success and serves to entertain the children between the ages of five and seven for one hour each Saturday with guest storytellers and unusual programs of interest. Many of the programs have included live animals and puppet shows in addition to well known local educators and authors who have entertained the children with stories.

Mrs. George Turner, chairman of the ways and means committee presented the budget for the coming year, and after a lengthy discussion, the membership voted its approval.

Following the business meeting, the guest of the evening, Mrs. Muriel Jacobs of the Saugerties-Woodstock Road, presented a program of Hawaiian music and dances and gave a brief resume of the history of the country and its customs. Most enjoyable for the group was the instruction given on the native dances in which everyone participated.

Mt. Marion Troop Holds Camp Out, Has Honor Court

Scouts and leaders of Troop 138, Mt. Marion, participated in a four day camp out at their new campsite, Camp Boice, Aug. 17-Aug. 20.

Activities of the camp out included inter-patrol competition with several hours each morning devoted to scout craft instruction.

A court of honor and family picnic were held Saturday evening, recognizing the advancements of four scouts. Paul Christiana, Mark Muscarello, Melvin Hauck and Richard Bollin to the rank of 2nd class. Also advancing were Joseph O'Neal, Werner Werts, Alfred Maurillo and James Rusted to rank of first class.

Merit badges were awarded to Ronald MacRae for swimming, cooking and canoeing, and to Orman Leighton for swimming, cooking, canoeing, life saving, camping, first aid and public health.

The main events of the evening were the presentation of the Star Badge to Orman Leighton and the dedication of the new Troop Flag, donated by Leonard Hickock.

The ceremonies were conducted by Salvatore Provenzano, scoutmaster of Troop 138.

Miss Niedzwicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Niedzwicki of Ruby will become the bride of John Stenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stenson Sr., of Appletree Drive on October 14.

St. Mary's Rosary Society will hold its first meeting of the new season Thursday, Sept. 7, in the schoool cafeteria at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Jean Seither, who will be starting her second year as president, will announce appointments of various committee chairmen for the year ,and plans will be completed for the annual card party to be held in October.

Each lady of the parish will be notified of the meeting and the society is looking forward to an increase in the membership through this notification, Mrs. Seither said.

Probe Explosion On New Haven in Dutchess County

Investigation was under way today in Dutchess County by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, railroad police and deputy sheriffs in an effort to learn who used dynamite in an unsuccessful attempt to blow up the main line of the New Haven Railroad tracks near Diddell Station, Town of Wappinger.

Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan said Wednesday authorities had definitely determined that dynamite was used, and that it was a deliberate attempt by someone to blow up the tracks.

Quinlan said that J. J. Diddell, who resides on a farm near Diddell Station reported last Friday an explosion was heard in that area between New Hackensack and Fishkill Plains near Route 376.

The sheriff said investigation showed the explosion scattered stones and dirt packed around the railroad ties a distance of 300 feet. The rail was buckled slightly by the blast, according to Quinlan.

Fortunately, the sheriff said, the rail buckled at a sturdy point. He added "If it had occurred at a joint, it could have caused a derailment."

Boy Kicked by Horse Is Apparently Serious

A six-year-old Stone Ridge boy, who was kicked in the face by a horse on a nearby farm Wednesday night, was reported in apparently serious condition today at Kingston Hospital.

Kingston state police said Thomas Silva, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Silva of Stone Ridge was kicked in the face by a horse on the Otto Wallevik farm at Stone Ridge, and is suffering from a cerebral concussion, broken teeth and a lacerated lip.

Trooper John Salters said another boy accompanying the Silva boy was throwing stones at the horse prior to the accident at 6:45 p. m.

Somber View on Tests

Long Step Toward War, Aiken Feels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's announcement that it will resume experimental explosions of nuclear weapons was met in the Senate by somber and icy anger.

"This," said one senator, "is a long step toward war." Another suggested that President Kennedy address the U.N. General Assembly.

Several said the Soviet move underscored a need for the United States to drop its self-imposed moratorium and begin testing again.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt. saw in the Soviet announcement a long stride toward war. But Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called for one more effort to get from the Soviets some sincere negtiations toward a ban on nuclear weapns tests.

"It is my guess," Aiken said, "that if testing is resumed, war won't be very far away."

The suggestion that Kennedy address the United Nations came from Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn. This move, Humphrey said, would dramatically call the world attention to U.S. efforts to get an agreement on a test ban.

Seals Self in Box To Inhale Cyanide

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Vernon Christopherson, 35, apparently committed suicide by sealing himself in a $200 plywood box and inhaling cyanide fumes, Sheriff's dputies report.

Christopherson's body was found Wednesday night in the box in a hay field in the Town of Otisco, where he had lived. The field is 26 miles southwest of Syracuse.

His father, Edward, discovered the box in a hole about four inches deep.

The box was made of ¾-inch plywood and was about eight feet long. It was sealed from the inside with screws set six inches apart, the deputies said. Christopherson had the box built for $200 for a grain experiment, they said.

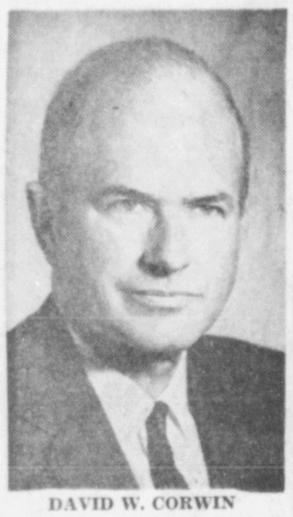

Beside the body were a flashlight and a bottle of cyanide, the dputies said.

Coroner Harry L. Gilmore Sr., said the younger Christopherson, who had been missing since Thursday, had committed suicide.

SAY "WREN"—When Jenny Wrenn starts to ring the HMS Wren bell at Wren training headquarters in Burghfield, England, there is bound to be some confusion. Jennifer Wrenn is a member of the Women's Royal Naval Service (WRNS), often called WREN by Britons, and Jenny Wren is a British nickname for a wren (the bird, that is). The bell is from a sloop HMS Wren. Any Questions?

Speaker Named For Ulster Town GOP Picnic Date

DAVID W. CORWIN

Guest speaker for the first annual picnic of the Town of Ulster Republican Club will be District Attorney David W. Corwin of New Paltz.

The announcement was made today by President Sherwood E. Davis of the Ulster GOP organization who reported that the ticket sale has been very satisfactory for the picnic scheduled Sunday, Sept. 10, at Spring Lake pavilion.

Begins at 1 P. M.

Davis indicated that a full schedule of events, from 1 until 5 p. m., has been planned including lunch from 1 to 2:30 p. m., games and contests for children, introduction of candidates and guest speaker at 3:30 p. m. and finally the awarding of prizes to children.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, Ulster County Republican Committee chairman, also will be in attendance, Davis said.

Tickets Still Available

Tickets are still available and may be obtained from Mrs. Harold Dohnken, Mrs. James M. Krom or from any of the town Republican committeemen. Children under 17 will be admitted free.

District Attorney Corwin was named to the Ulster County post March 23 of this year to succeed Raymond J. Mino who was appointed as Ulster County judge to fill the vacancy created by the naming of Louis G. Bruhn as Supreme Court Justice.

Corwin was designated on July 22 this year by the unofficial Ulster County Republican Convention as candidate for district attorney in the November election.

A native of New Paltz, the present district attorney was admitted to the Bar in 1936 and began the practice of law in the office of the late John M. Vanderlyn, a well-known New Paltz attorney. He served as a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy from 1943 until 1946, part of that time being spent on duty in the Pacific Theatre of Operations.

He is married to the former Katherine Van Tassel, formerly of Hudson. They are the parents of a son and daughter.

Corwin is a member of the board of trustees of New Paltz Savings Bank and is attorney for the bank for the Village of New Paltz. He served as president of the Board of Education of New Paltz Central School District from 1948 to 1952.

State Will Check On Radioactivity Near Center Site

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Health Department will begin checking levels of radioactivity in northern Cattaraugus County Friday in connection with a proposed nuclear service center.

The levels will be used in planning disposal of radioactive wastes at the center, the department said.

Water supplies, rock formations, dairy herds and farm lands will be checked to determine how the operation of the center would affect the environment.

The center will include facilities for storing nuclear wastes.

RESEARCH PROVES MILLBROOK'S MIRACLE-MIX GIVES YOU LONGER BREAD-BOX LIFE THAN ORDINARY BREAD

Just to make sure you get genuine Miracle-Mix with longer bread-box life... we've put this Ⓜ brand on every loaf!

Laboratory tests proved it! Ordinary bread, baked from old-fashioned dough, has big air-holes that speed drying out. But Millbrook's new batter-blending method whips air-holes out...keeps freshness in! Slice after slice...meal after meal...Miracle-Mix comes out of your bread box fresh-tasting, appetizing. Less waste...more good eating...in every loaf!

MIRACLE-MIX WINS IN ALL THREE TESTS. TEXTURE AND MOISTURE TESTS WERE MADE OVER A PERIOD OF FIVE DAYS UNDER BREAD-BOX-TYPE CONDITIONS.

MOISTURE: Ordinary bread lost at least twice as much moisture as Miracle-Mix Bread!

Renaissance Painting On Display in Albany

The Samuel H. Kress Foundation of New York has given a painting to the Albany Institute of History and Art. The gift is part of their continuing program of gifts of Renaissance paintings for study purposes.

The painting acquired by the Institute will be used for the programs on the ancient arts designed especially for school children. It will be on display beginning Sept. 1.

The large canvas is entitled A Venetian Market and is by Jacopo Bassano (1510/1515-92). Bassano was part of the great tradition of Venetian sixteenth century painting. He developed a style of intimate, genre translation of biblical, mythological and historical scenes.

His typical emphasis on anecdotal detail is very evident in this busy painting of a marketplace. Bassano studied with Veronese and perhaps Vecchio. Typical of his painting after he discarded his Mannerist style is a painting of The Last Supper in the Borghese Gallery in Rome.

ON RETURNING HOME FROM A DATE

Q: When my boy friend takes me home after a date, I have on occasion asked him to come in for a cup of coffee while my parents are asleep. This came to the attention of my mother and father and they caused a horrible scene, saying that no respectable girl would do such a thing. My brother came to my defense by saying that he had been invited into a girl's house after a date many times in just such a way as I have mentioned. Don't you think they are being a little too strict about this?

A: As long as you are living under your parents' roof you must accept their rules and if they disapprove of your inviting a man friend into the house after they have gone to bed, you most certainly should not do so.

Going-Away Present to Employer

Q: I would like to give both my employer and his wife a book for a going-away present, if this would be proper. (They are going to Europe for two months). They have been very good to me personally and although our association has been strictly a business one, I believe such a personal gesture on my part would not be out of order. Or is there something other than books that you would suggest.

A: I think nothing would be more appreciated or more welcomed on a steamer than a book. Let us hope, as his secretary, you know what kind of books they like.

A Bride's Face Veil

Q: I have noticed that at several weddings I have been to at which the bride wore a face veil, she turned it back as she reached the head of the aisle and turned to kiss her father. I always thought that this veil was turned back after the ceremony. Will you please tell me if I am right about this?

A: You are right. The tradition behind the face veil is that a maiden bride is too shy to face a congregation unveiled and reveals her face only when she is a married woman.

Young Stylemakers Display Fashions At Show on Tuesday

Over 100 girls modelled self-styled fashions for fall at the Young Stylemakers contest Tuesday night.

The event marked the conclusion of teenage sewing courses offered during the summer at Singer Sewing Center. Instructors were Miss Enid Goetchius and Miss Gertrude Schaffner.

The contest had three divisions tweens, age 10 to 13; teens, age 14 to 17 and Misses and Mrs., age 18 to 21. Local first place winners will compete next week in the Rochester Regional contest, with winners of that event going on to compete in the New York City finals.

Tween division—Gaile Boyce, first; Rochelle Lipton, second and Deborah Gage, third.

Judges were Mrs. Dorothy Rathbun, Mrs. Dorothy Pratt and Miss Sally Civill. Mrs. Kay Gilligan was commentator for the fashion show.

We The Women

Dignity Is in Order For Man Risking Life

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In their own living rooms American families grouped together before their TV sets have watched in hushed and prayerful silence both times that America sent a man alone into space.

The courage of the men in the capsule, the fear for his safety, the mystery of outer space, the appeal of the unknown to the imagination of the watchers—are as awe-inspiring as anything the magic of television has ever been able to bring into the lives of the American people.

Why then does TV have to ham it up, as usual, in the fearful time before the launchings? This is no time for cuteness, the entertainment as usual, the meaningless chatter that is all part and parcel of the average television show.

When a man is about to risk his life for us, don't we owe his courage, his selfishness, his dedication something better than a couple of men bandying silly words with a pretty girl in the usual feeble TV effort to fill up time before the "main attraction"?

How can TV be so insensitive as that? A man being shot into space isn't a TV spectacular but a human being meeting an awe-inspiring test of courage and stamina and self-reliance ordinary individuals are rarely permitted to share even remotely.

In being able to let us sit safely in our homes and in a small way share such an experience TV is a privileged medium.

Surely the industry could meet such a situation with more dignity, inspiration and imagination than has been shown so far.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — British novelist Eric Ambler, who thought up the idea of CBS' "Checkmate" series, might be accused of favoritism. Two of his central characters are handsome, strong young men in well-tailored Ivy League suits whose weekly job is to snatch helpless victims from the jaws of carefully plotted death.

But on the third character, Ambler really let himself go. Dr. Carl Hyatt, the professional criminologist of the series, is given all the theatrical white meat. Not only is the character urbane, incredibly knowledgable, well-traveled and mature, but he is lavishly supplied with props, any of which would steal any scene in which he appears.

The lucky fellow who plays the role is Sebastian Cabot, an adroit London-born actor who stopped shaving in 1954 to play an important part in the movie version of "Kismet."

Cabot's off-TV personality resembles the character he plays. His appreciation of good food has added 45 pounds to his already rounded figure. He's been put on a strict 1,200-calories-a-day diet. He follows it by starting off the day with a banana and a glass of skim milk—and then forgets the whole thing until the next day.

He loves playing learned Dr. Hyatt, but wishes they would make the character a little more human.

"It would be nice if Hyatt could make a mistake every once in a while," Cabot complained. "But every time I've suggested it they say that the public would never accept it. So I'll just go on being infallible."

In England Cabot was famous for his dialects—he can do perfect imitations of German, French and Italian accents. As Hyatt he mutes his British accent to suggest he's a Bostonian.

Although he plays a middle-aged bachelor bon-vivant with an eye for mature widows, Cabot is a happily married man with a pretty blonde wife, Kathleen, and three children ranging in age from 18 to 2.

Man Teaches Women

MOREHEAD, Ky. (AP) — Rowan County homemakers get recipes and sewing tips from their home demonstration agent just as do homemakers in other counties. But there's a difference. There agent is a man.

Adrian M. Razor, who also is county agricultural extension agent, took on the added duties of home demonstration agent 4 months ago after Rowan County had been without one for some time.

Vote for Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's two Republican Senators, Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob K. Javits, voted yesterday for an appropriation-bill amendment that would extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission for two years.

Fisherman Pulls Up Wallet Lost 4 Years

TUPPER LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Fisherman Frank LaCombe hooked a wallet lost four years ago by Ralph Milne in Horseshoe Lake, near this Adirondack community.

Milne's $7 and other contents of the wallet still were usable, Milne reported. A leather band around the wallet helped to protect the contents and also was the snag for LaCombe's hook.

To Hold Hearing on Tuesday for Delaware Basin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Interior Committee will hold a public hearing Tuesday on proposed legislation that would set up a compact for development of the Delaware River Basin.

The committee plans to look into a public power preference provision rejected by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The judiciary committee approved the measure Tuesday but struck out the provision that would give public agencies first choice in the distribution of power generated by government-owned dams that would be built along the river and its tributaries.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall had favored the power provision.

White Sox Jolt Tigers, 7-4

Sturdivant Keeps Rolling

Pizzaro Yields Only Five Hits And Whiffs Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second place Detroit Tigers lost their second in a row to the Chicago White Sox, 7-4, Wednesday night and dropped 2½ games behind the New York Yankees, who beat Minnesota 4-0 on the four-hit pitching of Bill Stafford.

Elston Howard and Mickey Mantle homered for New York, with Mick tagging lefty Jim Kaat for No. 47. That left Mantle one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927. Teammate Roger Maris, still at 51, now is only seven games ahead of Ruth.

The hottest home run slugger of the moment, Jim Gentile, belted his 43rd as third place Baltimore walloped five homers and crushed Los Angeles 11-4. It was Gentile's seventh home run in nine games, but he's six behind Ruth's pace for 136 games.

Cleveland clobbered Washington 9-0 and Boston whipped Kansas City 9-3.

Cash Misses Game

The Tigers, playing without flu-stricken Norm Cash, the AL's batting leader at .366, committed three errors for the second straight game and were checked on five hits by southpaw Juan Pizarro (11-5), who struck out 10. Jim Bunning (15-10) was roughed up for 10 of Chicago's 15 hits, but it was a three-run eighth against reliever's Gerry Staley and Hank Aguirre that won it for the Sox.

Stafford (12-7) dueled Jim Kaat (7-13) with only a 1-0 lead until Mantle walloped his first home run in nine games leading off the seventh inning. Howard hit his 14th home run in the ninth, off reliever Ray Moore.

Gentile had three hits and drove in four runs, snatching the RBI lead from Maris with 124, for the Orioles, who picked up their other home runs from Jackie Brandt, Earl Robinson, Ron Hansen and Jerry Adair in support of Jack Fisher (8-11). Ron Moeller (4-8) was the loser.

Ted Kluszewski homered for the Angels.

The Senators gave the Indians an unearned run in the second inning and then were rapped for eight runs in the fourth. Gary Bell (9-14) pitched his first shutout of the year with a four-hitter. John Gabler (3-7) was the loser.

Winning right-hander Gene Conley (9-11) beat the A's and Jim Archer (8-11) with a tie-breaking, two-run single in the seventh for the Red Sox, who pushed across five more in the ninth.

Kingston, Jamaica — Freddie Blades, Miami, Fla., defeated Allan Harmon, Kingston, 10.

Orioles Eye Lopez To Replace Richards

DETROIT (AP) — Al Lopez, who managed the Chicago White Sox to their first pennant in 40 years in 1959, is reported under consideration as Paul Richards' successor as manager of the Baltimore Orioles. Richards has accepted the general mamagership at Houston.

A reliable source told The Associated Press Wednesday night that White Sox Manager Lopez was contacted by Richards himself regarding the Baltimore post.

AL Castoff Wins 4th Pirate Win; Beats Reds, 3-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Sturdivant, an American League castoff, gained his fourth victory in five decisions and allowed only four hits for his fifth straight complete game as Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 3-1 Wednesday night.

That ended the Reds' brief winning streak at three and trimmed their National League lead to 2½ games over the second place Los Angeles Dodgers, who whipped the Chicago Cubs 5-2. San Francisco, after losing five in a row, regained third place from Milwaukee by beating the Braves 2-1. Philadelphia defeated St. Louis, 4-3.

Gets 20 In Row

After giving up an unearned run in the second inning, on Gordy Coleman's single, his lone walk and a two-out error, Sturdy retired 20 in a row before giving up singles by Coleman and Jerry Lynch with two out in the ninth. Then he got Gus Bell on a game-ending grounder.

The Pirates beat Bob Purkey (14-10) with two runs in the first inning. Bill Virdon's leadoff single, Dick Groat's triple and a wild pitch did it.

The Angels did it with two-run homers by Charlie Neal and Norm Sherry and the strikeout pitching of Larry Sherry, who fanned seven of the nine Cubs he faced in three innings of hitless relief. Southpaw Johnny Podres (17-4) was the winner. Dick Ellsworth (7-9) was the loser.

San Francisco managed only four hits, but paired two of them, a double by Joe Amalfitano and a triple by Willie McCovey, with an infield out for two runs in the fourth inning off Carl Willey (5-9). Mike McCormick (11-13) was the winner.

The last place Phils blew a 2-0 lead, but cracked a 3-3 tie with two out in the eighth inning on Don Demeter's RBI double, his second of the game off Card ace Ray Sadecki (12-7). Don Ferrarese (3-9) was the winner in relief.

QUARTERBACK HOPEFUL — Gerald McDonough, junior from Kingston, is taking dead aim at the vacant quarterback spot on the University of Connecticut football team. The Huskies will report for their initial practice on Sept. 3. Playing chiefly on defense, the 5-11, 202-pound McDonough won his letter as a sophomore in 1960. He completed one pass in three attempts for the Huskies. He also rushed once for two yards. McDonough is a graduate of Kingston High (1959) where he lettered three years in football, two in track and one in basketball. He was the DUSO "Player of the Year" in 1959 and won honorable mention on the Wigwam All-American team. He is majoring in business administration at Connecticut.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ...

by MURRAY

The Buffalo Bills, so desperate for quarterbacking they've reactivated Tommy O'Connell from the coaching ranks, could have had Babe Parilli . . . now burning up the exhibition trail with the Boston Patriots . . . but Buster Ramsey thumped down the old Kentucky passing ace. . . .

A player who switched from the American to the National League looked back on his erstwhile playmates: "Half those guys over there don't seem to care. . . . There's just not the competition." . . .

Frank Lary

To the Detroit Tigers, pitching leader Frank Lary is simply "Taters" . . . since the day he showed up as a rookie, made his first road trip and told the waitress in the dining car, "I'll have some 'taters with my steak." . . . His arm trouble this year caused Lary to lean heavily on his fast ball and become a 20-game winner again . . . discarding temporarily the knuckle ball because of the strain on his elbow, and yet the knuckler broke him into the 20-game ranks in 1956. . . .

When skipper Bob Scheffing told him he was the best pitcher in the league, the dry Alabaman shrugged, "You're the first manager with hair on his head." . . . Detroit predecessors Jack Tighe, Bill Norman and Joe Gordon were all shiny domes. . . .

Sidlined Vern Law has been ordered not even to fish right-handed while he rests his ailing flipper in hope of a comeback for the sorely beset Pirates next season. . . . "This is what Law meant to us," reviewed general manager Joe Brown. "He always pitched a good game. In 100 starts I don't think were 10 times he was taken out before the sixth or seventh inning . . . and as a result the bullpen wasn't run ragged." . . .

This is what an infield shift means to Roger Maris: "So instead of .280, I hit .270." . . . (but just as many homers as ever). . . .

A little Madison Avenue treatment is in store for our tennis rascals . . . who've blown their stacks so often that even gentle Allison Danzig was prompted to chide them for temperamental fits of profanity and racquet flinging . . . with the USLTA sponsoring a booklet called "Friend at Court" which stresses how umpires can keep better order on grass and clay . . . and is largely the work of Jack Stahr, a top editorial gent on ad row . . . and long-time member of the USLTA Umpires Committee. . . .

Man, how these swimmers get around. . . . Donna DeVarona is a champ at 14 . . . but by the time she was 13 she had already stroked her way to Rome, Tokyo and Honolulu, not to mention across the continental United States. . . .

Bill McPhail, top sports man at CBS, was watching Jim Landis, the suave centerfielder, cavort for the Chicago White Sox . . . and remembering the first time he saw the slim Californian . . . as a 17-year-old prospect reporting to Colorado Springs, where Bill was the GM . . . and the Chisox front office sent along the warning: "This kid's never been more than 25 miles from home, so better get out to the airport and take him in tow." . . . "And there he stood," recalls Bill, "holding two comic books so tightly that the knuckles showed white." . . .

Big reason for the Forty Niners' complete adoption of the "shotgun offense" is Bill Kilmer, the UCLA pass-run rookie . . . who was a T-quarterback through high school and junior college but always had a yen to be a tailback. . . . "I wanted it so desperately," he says, "I'd have done anything, even gone to Tennessee." . . .

Between you'n'me, with their trades for Y. A. Tittle and Del Shofner, the New York Giants have become the most talked about team in pro football . . . and the team to beat. . . .

Major League Stars

Pitching—Tom Sturdivant, Pirates, allowed only four singles and walked just one, retiring 20 in a row over one span, for 3-1 victory over first place Reds and fifth straight complete game.

Hitting — Don Demeter, Phils, drove in two runs with pair of doubles, breaking 3-3 tie with second in the eighth inning for 4-3 victory over Cards.

Rebel Man Is Back

Harris Returns to Speedway Sunday in Quest of 11th Win

It looks like everything will be back to normal Sunday afternoon at Onteora Speedway Park in Olive Bridge.

D. D. (Rebel) Harris returns to the wars after having passed up last Sunday's Demolition Derby, while he was notching his seventh win of the season at Lebanon Valley.

That's exactly what it was last week—the most sensational feature in Onteora Speedway history. Only seven cars among the 27 original starters completed 25 laps.

Harris, who is running a string of four straight and has won 10 Speedway features this season, is probably just as happy. Who knows what might have happened to his Purple Triple AAA during those furious crashes and flips that required three restarts in the feature event.

Harris' absence, while he was pursuing the greater gold at Lebanon, gave Jimmy Markle of Stone Ridge a chance to wrap up his second victory of the season. Don Avery and his red A-1 never did make the finish line.

The challenge to Harris has to come from Avery, Ernie Beesmer, maybe Ray Anderson of Newburgh and Stretch Van Steenburg of Saugerties who has been hounded by a jinx all season long at Onteora. The Flying Dutchman has been a strong opponent for Harris on all area tracks except Dick Lane's bailiwick.

Harris Leads Points

Harris is inevitably the points leader at Onteora with 252 as of August 20. Ernie Beesmer was second with 196 and Don Avery had 180, both improved last week. Other leaders include: Clayton Barringer 152, Ray Anderson 151, Jim Markle 149, Walt Schubert 126, Fred Stokes 108, Don Cronk 103. Van Steenburg has 74.

At the Clinton

Bridge Championships Will Open Here Sept. 15

Dates have been announced for the eighth annual Hudson Valley championships sponsored by the Hudson Valley Contract Bridge Association.

The tournament will be held Sept. 15-16-17 at the Governor Clinton hotel in Kingston.

Several events are scheduled starting with the individual competition on Friday, Sept. 15, at 2:30 p. m.

Other events are:

Men's Pairs—one session, Sept. 17, 1:30 p. m.; Women's Pairs—one session, Sept. 17, 1:30 p. m.; Mixed Pair—Sept. 15, 8:30 p. m.; Open Pair, first session, Sept. 16 at 2 p. m., second session at 8 p. m. The first session will be a qualifying round consisting of two or more sections. Players who qualify will compete in the finals Saturday evening. Eliminated players may compete in the Hudson Valley Pairs event Saturday without further charge.

Hudson Valley Pairs competition is slated Sept. 16 at 8 p. m. This is open to any pair of players. Pairs eliminated from Open Pair qualifying session may compete in this event. The Team-of-Four event, one session, will be played Sept. 17 at 7:30 p. m. and the Amateur Pairs (less than 50 points) will be one session, Sept. 17, at 7:30 p. m.

Master Point Play

The American Contract Bridge League will award master points in accordance with the standard schedule for sectional tournaments. Both permanent and carry-over trophies will be awarded to winners in all major events. Permanent trophies will be awarded for the Hudson Valley Pairs.

Irving H. (Laddie) Wheatcroft of Kingston is chairman of the tournament committee. He is assisted by Daniel Ettlinger, Morris Lando, Janet Yallum, William Pilgrim and Jerry McNamara. Harry Thayer is in charge of publicity and Myron Fleishman, trophies.

Defending champions are: Individual, Herbert Hobbs; Mixed Pairs, Marie Degenhardt and Milton Daskal; Open Pairs, Jack Van Gelder and Herbert Hobbs; Team-of-Four, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Harter, Miriam Brandt and Dr. Paul Perlman; Women's Pairs, Hazel Murphy and Claire Lane; Men's Pairs, Sigmund Fresinger and Manuel Goodman; Co-Holders, Myron Fleishman and Reuben Alexander; Amateur Pairs, Bernard Sommers and Marvin Shatz.

Lindhurst Hits 589 in Hi-Lo

Ed Lindhurst rapped a 589 series, as the Hi Lo league launched its 1961-62 season Wednesday night at the Bowlero lanes. His games were 182, 184, 223.

Chick Lawrence decked 202, Red Fisher 215-536, Mike Spada 520, Fred Zimmerman 504, Milt Tsitsera 206-513, John D. Relyea 530, Warren Wood 502, Al DiBella 530, Harry Kapreilian 204-535, Vince Hart 203-539, Bob Yonta 524.

Team results:

United Parcel Service 1, Stuyvesant Barbers 2; John Hancock Insurance 1, Spada's Trucking 2; S&E Farms 2, Three Brothers Egg Farms 1; Tom Millers 0, Farber's Super Market 3; Charles Ramsey Corp. 3, DiBella and Sons 0.

Champ, Van Aken Lose

H. Waterous, Knutsen In Woodstock CC Finals

Woodstock Country Club is looking forward to the crowning of a new champion Saturday, as the result of a major and minor upset in the semi-final round.

In the major upset, youthful Eric Knutsen rallied from a 3-hole deficit with 4 to go to eliminate Bill Van Aken, 1 up, in 20 holes.

Waterous and Knutsen hook up in a 36-hole playoff for the title Saturday, with the first round at 9 a .m., the second after a luncheon break.

Between them, Bill Waterous and Van Aken had dominated the championship flight at Woodstock for the past seven years. Van Aken won five and Waterous twice.

Wins With Putter

Three down at the end of 14 holes, Knutsen surged to a tie at the end of 18 when Van Aken's putter collapsed. He won the sixth with a par to Van Aken's bogie-5. They halved the seventh and Knutsen reduced the margin to one with a 15-foot birdie on the 17th. Van Aken missed a 4-footer which would have given him a half and match on the 18th to send the match into overtime.

Van Aken recovered from a poor drive on the 19th hole to pitch within 10 feet of the cup, but was unable to run it down, as Knutsen got his par 4 with a 6-foot putt. The mach ended when Van Aken three- putted from the back edge of the sloping green for a bogie-5. Knutsen made a nice recovery from near the trees on the left side of the fairway and got down in four. Van Aken missed a 3-footer which would have the match alive.

Will Pick Teams, Pairings Today For Golf Event

SEATTLE (AP)—A four-month campaign to prepare the British Walker Cup team mentally for the matches over the Seattle Golf Club course Friday and Saturday ends today for Charles Lawrie, non-playing captain of the visiting team.

Ever since being named to the post last winter, Lawrie has been impressing his charges with the idea they can beat the Americans, winners of all but one of the 17 previous biennial matches, much in the manner of a cheerleader urging on a collegiate team.

"I cannot not help their golf. They are the 10 best players we have," he explained today several hours before he was to name the eight who will compete in Friday's Scottish foursomes. In this type of play two players make up a team, hitting alternate strokes.

Lawrie and Jack Westland, the golfing congressman from Everett, Wash., who is the United States captain, will name their teams and pairings at 6:30 p.m. (EST) today after the ceremonial flag raising.

"I have kept in touch with my players by mail and wire all during the summer," said Lawrie, a one-time Scot who now is a farmer in Wales, "and I have tried to make them forget our wretched record in this event, to forget all the publicity they would read about the Americans and to make believe they are playing the chap next door at home."

Eder Jofre Is Named Fighter of the Month

NEW YORK (AP)—Eder Jofre, world bantamweight champion who won the same designation for July, again was named "Fighter of the Month'" by Ring Magazine in its August ratings released today.

Jofre retained his unbeaten status by knocking out Ramon Arias in Caracas in successfully defending his crown.

Ganders Slated To Open Season Sept. 23 at Dover

Chick Meehan, the Rondout Valley Central School athletic director and head football coach, sums up his 1961 club as being weak at both tackle slots and a little shallow at the ends. However, he feels the Ganders will give a good account of themselves this year.

Last season the team won four, lost one and tied a pair. It finished in a three way tie for first place in the Ulster County league with New Paltz and Onteora.

Missing from that club are ends Keith Johnson, Al Davis and John Vandemark; tackles Ken Aaron and Robert Vendel and back Clark Crespi.

Coach Meehan is pinning most of his hopes this season on quarterback Jim Brush and halfback Ricky Spada, who may be converted to fullback. Other returning vets are halfbacks Doug Lyons and Gordie Switz; quarterback Bob Barnum; fullback Jerry Craig; tackles Dee Pratt, Gary Johnson and Art Frieberg; guards Harold Baker and Eddie Black and end Lynn Johnson. Pratt was a guard and is being shifted in hopes of filling the gaping hole at tackle. Barnum can play any position in the backfield and will be the all-around utility performer.

Physicals for the boys were given this morning and the initial practice session is scheduled tomorrow at 4 o'clock. An eight game schedule will be played with the opener slated for Sept. 23 at Dover Plains. A highlight will be a game under the Dietz Stadium lights on Friday, Oct. 27 against Onteora.

Assisting Coach Meehan will be John Million. He'll handle the backfield.

The schedule:

Date	Opponent	Where
Sept. 23	Dover Plains	Away
Sept. 30	Minisink Valley	Home
Oct. 7	*Marlboro	Away
Oct. 14	*Wallkill	Home
Oct. 21	*New Paltz	Home
Oct. 27	*Onteora	Dietz
Nov. 3	*Liberty	Home
Nov. 11	Cornwall	Away

Games will begin at 2 p. m. except for the contest at Dietz Stadium, which is listed for 8 p. m.

Onteora Central Grid Candidates To Receive Gear

Onteora Central football coach Bob Ryan will give equipment to freshmen and sophomores playing for the first time Saturday from 2 to 4 p. m. Returning sophomores as well as juniors and seniors will receive equipment from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday.

The Indians have an eight game schedule on tap and will open on Sept. 22 at night against Pawling at Dietz Stadium.

Olean Slams Braves To Hold 2nd Place

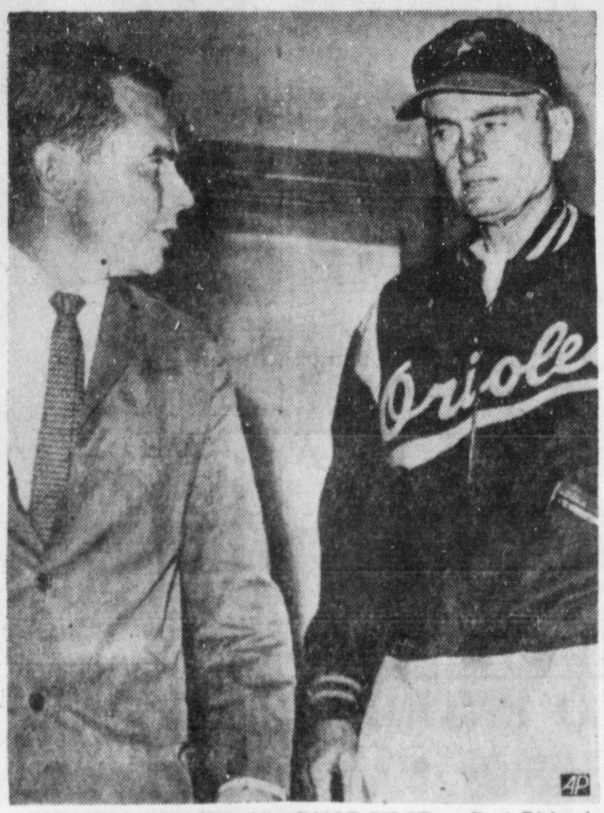

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Olean Red Sox have derailed Elmira's hopes of crashing the first division and the New York-Penn Baseball League playoffs with a final-week rally.

Olean pummeled Wellsville's Braves twice Wednesday night with a home-run barrage, 10-1 and 8-4, to clinch fourth place. Elmira split a pair with Jamestown to fall 2½ games behind Olean with two games left.

Elsewhere, Erie blanked Batavia, 3-0 and Geneva dropped Auburn, 8-6.

Yanks Now Lead Tigers 2½ Games; Mantle Gets 47th

By JIM ROGERS

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Mickey Mantle had just swatted his 47th home run, but there was little talk in the Yankee dressing room about that. Everyone was more concerned over how second place Detroit came out with Chicago.

Most of the Yankees had left the dressing room when the final score was posted: Chicago 7, Detroit 4.

Yanks Eye Pennant

That, coupled with New York's 4-0 victory over the Minnesota Twins behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Stafford Wednesday night, put the Yanks 2½ games ahead of the Tigers.

"There isn't much talk about the home runs," explained Yankee Manager Ralph Houk. "The boys are more interested in winning the pennant."

That feeling carries even to statistician Bill Kane, who makes no mention in his press sheet of how close Mantle and Roger Maris, who has 51 roundtrippers, are to Babe Ruth's record 60 homers.

Maris Risks Injury

The pennant fever was best exhibited Wednesday night by Maris who risked injury sliding hard into Minnesota second baseman Billy Martin when Martin was attempting to complete a double play. The ball sailed into the Twins' dugout and resulted in the Yanks' first run.

"I had to take my chances with an injury," said Maris. "The score was 0-0 at the time and if I could upset the double play, that meant a possible run. We're out to win the pennant and any records will be incidental."

Houk said he felt no concern at the slide, but "I would have if he hadn't tried to break up the play. These guys are all professionals now. They should know how to slide."

Elaine Rodney Is Not Entered At Monticello

Elaine Rodney, one of the prime candidates in the HTA Trot Series, has not been entered in the Monticello leg Saturday, it was learned last night.

The four year old trotting ace instead, will race against the likes of Su Mac Lad, Silver Song, Hickory Pride and Air Record in a $35,000 Free-for-All Trot at Brandywine.

Racing Secretary, Jimmy Dunnigan made the disclosure last night after entries were drawn. Merric Duke, the early co-favorite, drew the rail and will probably be the odds-on choice in the Saturday night feature at the Sullivan County oval.

The rest of the field for the HTA Trot Saturday includes Whitefoot Joe, Lucky Demon, Nike Hanover, Lumber Dream, Family Man and Justly Worthy.

Dunnigan said no reason was given for withdrawing Elaine Rodney in favor of the Brandywine Trot. But Clint Hodgins probably figured even second money at Brandywine ($9,000 +) would be better than first place at Monticello ($6,800).

Monticello Raceway brass declined comment on the withdrawal.

Grays Hold Second Place in Eastern

Now that the Springfield Giants have clinched the Eastern League pennant, the battle is on for second and fourth places.

The Williamsport Grays, coming up with three runs in the ninth Wednesday night to defeat Lancaster 10-9, maintained their 3½-game lead over Binghamton which defeated Reading 7-1.

The Grays have a good hold on second place with only five more games to play. Binghamton has six games left.

Billy Ostrom to Be Honored In Poughkeepsie Friday Night

BILLY OSTROM

Billy "The Kid" Ostrom, one of the legendary baseball figures in the Hudson Valley, will be honored before a New York-New Jersey league game between the Poughkeepsie Hoe-Bowls and the Haverstraw Lumbermen Friday, 7:30 p. m. at Riverview field in the Bridge City.

A special citizens' committee headed by the Police Athletic League and the Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn. and other organizations will pay tribute to the field manager of the Hoe-Bowl club. They are recognizing Ostrom's 25 years of baseball service to the city and community.

In addition to his exploits on the diamond, Ostrom has worked with teenagers, little leaguers, junior leagues, Babe Ruth leagues, high school players, twilight league, softball teams and also conducts the Poughkeepsie Minor league, where players of Little League age learn how to play ball.

The 40-year-old Ostrom will be cited for his accomplishment in ceremonies prior to the regularly scheduled contest.

IMPORTANT MONEY

BALTIMORE — (NEA) — The two richest horse races in Maryland are The Preakness, which grossed $178,700 last spring, and the Pimlico Futurity, which will gross about $125,000 this November.

In Swahili, an African language, a "mama" is a mama, but a "papa" is a shark.

2 City Archers Make Third Spot In State Event

Five local archers competed in the New York State Field archery championship tournament held August 26 and 27 at Connecticut Hill State Park, Watkins Glen.

Don Planthaber, Earl Sleight and Harry Sleight were nosed out by the powerful competition.

Don Bowra took third place in Division 325 with a 407 hunter round score. Mel. Farris won two third places in Division 250 with a field score and 371 hunter score.

More than 700 archers competed during the two-day event which was marred by rain, fog and high humidity.

It was the first time in several years that Kingston was among the winners in a state event and the locals now aim to get a winner in the nationals and possibly make the next olympic team.

Pre-Season Work Is Suggested to Improve Gridders

CLEVELAND (AP) — Football coaches take note: If you want your players to bear up well physically during the season, give them lots of pre-season conditioning.

That, in essence, was the conclusion —from a coach's point of view—of a report given by a Mayo Clinic physician to the American Congress of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at group's 39th annual scientific and clinical session here.

Dr. Joseph A. Honet, fellow in physical medicine and rehabilitation, Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn., compared the performance of two groups of football players at John Marshall High School in Rochester. Eighteen players participated in five one-half hour workouts a week from late July into the regular season. A group of 15 began the same workouts at the beginning of the regular season early in September.

The pre-conditioned group showed considerably greater strength and endurance at the beginning of the season and throughout the schedule, Dr. Honet said.

7 Players Urge Ralston Return To Tennis Event

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Denis Ralston, the Peck's Bad Boy of American tennis continued to have a controversy rage about his suspension by the United States Lawn Tennis Association today as world ranking tennis players gathered for the start of the National Championships.

The Nationals begin at the picturesque West Side Tennis Club Friday. But Ralston, one of the top grass court players in the country, is destined to watch from the stands unless the USLTA gives in to numerous pleas that his suspension be lifted.

Ralston was suspended Tuesday for unbecoming conduct during the American Zone Davis Cup final in Cleveland earlier this month. The 19-year-old Californian from Bakersfield was declared ineligible for the Nationals and his status for the upcoming Davis Cup matches against India also is doubtful.

The latest to ask America's governing tennis body to reconsider were seven of the eight seeded players in the singles competition.

Arthur Rides Harlan Dean To Win; Sets New Record

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Frosting to a record week can be added today for Del Miller, veteran harness racing trainer-driver, if Hambletonian Society directors vote to keep the 3-year-old trotting classic at the Du Quoin State Fair Grounds.

Miller, 48-year-old baron of Meadow Lands Farm in Pennsylvania, is part owner of Harlan Dean with Max Hempt and Royal Cleveland.

Record Pearformance

Harlan Dean, driven by Miller's long-time assistant, Jimmy Arthur, Wednesday won the Hambletonian with a record performance of successive mile heats in 1:58 2-5 and 1:59.

Miller today will head a behind-the-scene fight to keep an eastern bloc of Hambletonian directors from voting to move the premier grand circuit event from Du Quoin to Vernon Downs in upstate New York.

The Hambletonian has been held at the Du Quoin State Fair Grounds since 1957, when it was shifted from Goshen, N.Y.

Tops Trotting Mark

Meanwhile, Miller and his partners pocketed a $77,364 first prize on Harlan Dean's sensational Hambletonian victory. The brown son of Harlan had won only once in eight starts this year and collected a mere $7,676 in earnings.

His first heat of 1:58 2-5 topped the 3-year-old trotting mark, 1:58 3-5, set by Elaine Rodney in the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington last fall and matched by Caleb in the recent Review Futurity in Springfield, Ill.

His second heat of 1:59 also shattered the former Hambletonian record of 1:59 3-5 established last year by Quick Song and Hoot Frost.

The combined heat times of 3:57 2-5 was a record for trotters of any age, surpassing the 3:57¾ set in heats of 1:58¾ and 1:59 by 5-year-old Nibble Hanover at Old Orchard Beach, Maine.

In Triplicate

FAIRFIELD, Conn. — (NEA) —Another Mickey Walker, a recruit with the football New York Giants, may have the same name as the famed welter and middleweight champion of the Twenties, but he's anything but a Toy Bulldog.

He weighs 210 pounds and stands six feet.

But the new Mickey Walker training at Fairfield looks enough like another Mickey — Mantle — to sign autographs.

FISHING SHARKS

Maple Leafs Nip Red Wings 6-4 to Lead Rochester

With less than two weeks left of the regular season, the cast for the Governor's Cup appears to be three fourths complete in the International League.

Only fourth place is in doubt. The race for the final playoff spot has developed into an exciting battle between Toronto, last year's champion, and Rochester. The Maple Leafs defeated the Red Wings 6-4 Wednesday night and moved a game and a half ahead of Rochester.

In other games, Richmond temporarily halted the Columbus pennant drive with a 5-4 victory over the Jets. Runner-up Buffalo stretched its winning streak to seven games with a 3-2 triumph over Syracuse and Jersey City edged third place Charleston, 5-4.

Cushenan, Stratton Are Now With Bisons

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League have bought defenseman Ian Cushenan and center Art Stratton from the New York Rangers of the National League.

The straight cash deal was announced Wednesday. The price was reportedly more than $50,000.

Cushenan has appeared with New York, Chicago and Montreal and last year played with Springfield. Stratton played with the Rangers, Springfield, and Kitchener, Ont., last season.

Phoenix, Ariz. — Zora Folley, 203, Phoenix, knocked out Ben Marshall, 223, Oklahoma City, 2.

Red China Backs Kremlin Move to Resume Testing

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today came out with firm backing of the Soviet Union's decision to resume nuclear weapons tests.

"The government of the People's Republic of China today issued a statement supporting the Soviet government's decision to conduct experimental explosions of nuclear weapons in the interests of the defense of world peace," the New China News Agency said in a dispatch from Peiping.

It was the Red Chinese government "resolutely supports this important step."

Improvements Made at Schools For Opening Day

During the summer months Richard McLean, superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, of the Kingston school system and his staff of janitorial and maintenance men have been busily engaged in preparation for the opening of schools Wednesday, Sept. 6.

Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools, today outlined the major maintenance items which include:

School No. 7, chalk boards were resurfaced and the sprinkler system completed. Sprinkler system was also installed in School No. 8.

George Washington School a copper cap was completed on the parapet walls. Venetian blinds were installed on all windows facing Washington Avenue and draperies were installed on the auditorium windows.

The principal's office at the Myron J. Michael School was painted and the offices were divided. Fluorescent fixtures were installed on the second floor in classrooms.

At Kingston High School a considerable amount of work was done. About 70 per cent of all outside trim has been painted. The sidewalk in front of the school on Broadway was covered with blacktop. Inside the building, asphalt vinyl tile was installed in three classrooms and one study hall. An additional booth was installed in the guidance office. All exterior trim was painted on the Vocational building.

In rural areas, the following work was completed at schools during the summer season:

Chambers school, two exit doors were replaced. A lining was installed in the furnace, as suggested by the manufacturer. A ceiling was replaced in the original corridor at the Lake Katrine School. Drainage of the athletic field was also completed.

At the Emma Weygant School, sings were installed in four classrooms. An asbestos vinyl tile floor was installed in one classroom and foyer.

In Rifton, at the Anna Devine School, an exit door was installed in one classroom. A partition was installed in one large classroom in order to make two classrooms. Fluorescent fixtures were installed in all classrooms and the inferior was redecorated. At Tillson School, a fire detection system in the used portion of the building was almost completed, and the gym interior was redecorated.

Insurance Law Gives Coverage To 500,000 More

Over 500,000 workers in New York State, previously denied protection, will be given compensation and disability coverage beginning January 1, 1962, it was announced today by Col. S. E. Senior, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

"As a result of amendments to laws over the past three years," he said, "New York State will have finally achieved virtually full coverage for its labor force in the field of significant social legislation."

The chairman announced that all employers in the state, with very few exceptions, will be required to insure their employes beginning the first of 1962, regardless of the number of employes they may have. The law previously required employers of two or more to carry insurance coverage, but exempted employers of only one person in non-hazardous occupations.

"The new legislation," he said, "which was enacted overwhelmingly by the Legislature, in response to the Governor's recommendation for '. . . coverage under our social insurance programs of regular workers in single-employe businesses . . .' is another major step taken in the workers' interest by Governor Rockefeller's administration."

The Compensation Board will give wide publicity this week regarding the insurance coverage that employers in New York State will be required to carry.

In discussing details of these instructions, Col. Senior made clear that amendments to the laws do not alter the status of those employers who are now already required to provide this protection for their employes.

"For all others," the chairman said, "January 1, 1962, is an important date. Beginning then, they are required by law to have Workmen's Compensation Insurance and Disability Benefits insurance."

An employer may comply with the coverage requirements of the law by purchasing insurance policies for each type of coverage from any insurance company authorized to write such insurance in this state, including the State Insurance Fund.

"Failure to insure the required payments of benefits for employes subjects the non-complying employer to both monetary and criminal penalties, which can be very severe, in addition to the personal obligation to pay all benefits due," Col Senior said.

The chairman's bulletin to employers states that additional information concerning either Workmen's Compensation or Disability Benefits may be secured from Workmen's Compensation Board offices in New York City, Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo, Rochester or Syracuse.

A three or four minute tumble in the automatic clothes dryer will fluff woolen blankets or feather pillows.

LAW IS ON THEIR SIDE — Something's worrying pretty Joan Freeman (left) and Marilyn Maxwell, but Sheriff Rhoades Reason's look seems to assure that things are well in hand in Sunrise, town in which "Bus Stop," a new ABC dramatic show is being filmed for Sunday night screening. Trio are permanent members of the cast.

SIGN OF THE TIMES—W. C. Fancher, postmaster of Moscow, Tex., the Texas community with a name that's the same as that of another community a world away, wants something done about it. Optimists have proposed that the other town change its name, and some have even suggested that a petition to this effect might be handled through the U.N.

Criterions Corps Wins Saturday; Competes Sept. 2

The Criterions, drum and bugle corps of Port Ewen, which won an impressive victory at East Stroudsburg, Pa., this past weekend, will compete again with 12 other corps in the Northeastern Championship at Riverside Amusement Park, Agawam, near Springfield, Mass.

They will meet some of the best corps in the east including the Newark, N. J. Gayblades, the Hurricanes of Shelton, Conn., the Connecticut Yankees of Stratford; the Amboy Dukes of Perth Amboy, N. J., the Bridgeport, Conn., Troopers and others.

Preliminaries will be held at 2 p. m. and the championship contest at 8 p. m.

Saturday, the Criterions achieved its highest score in competition, 84.369 to win the Music in Motion competition at East Stroudsburg.

Other corps in order of finish were Bordentown, N. J. Devils, 78.833; Lambertville, N. J. Volunteers, 78.222; Bridgeport, Conn., Troopers, 72.438; The Chessmen of Westchester County, 71.7, and the Chocolateers of Hershey, Pa., 66.105.

French Discreet On Alps Riders

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — French police gave this Gallic reason for refusing to disclose the names of 81 persons rescued Wednesday after the break in the Mont Blanc Alpine cableway:

"You never know who travels with whom, and in France we try to be as discreet about these things as we can."

Four members of a German family and an Italian father and son were killed when two of the cable cars derailed and crashed to the glacier below.

Nonaligned Nations Meet

Belgrade Conference Shocked by Red Move

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) The Soviet decision to resume nuclear testing shocked representatives of 24 nonaligned nations gathering here today for a summit conference. Some called it "a slap in the face" to the Belgrade conference.

Bitterest comment came over the timing of the Soviet statement on the eve of the talks here. Disarmament is one of the main issues to be discussed.

"It was astonishing — even shocking—for the Kremlin to announce such a step on the eve of our conference," said one Asian delegate. "I'm sure some of our leaders will have things to say about this from the conference rostrum."

Nehru Comment Awaited

Indian Prime Minister Nehru, who has long campaigned for nuclear and other disarmament, is expected to be especially angry. Nehru plans to go to Moscow Sept. 6 after the conference. Several Asians said he will probably raise the question of nuclear testing with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The Yugoslav government newspaper Borba published the Kremlin's announcement on an inside page, without comment. Borba also published President Kennedy's message to the conference, using both the text and a Washington dispatch on an inside page. It gave no editorial comment.

"What a sad thing for them to do," a member of the Indian delegation said of the Soviet announcement.

Arab Is Critical

"It looks like they want to smash our meeting," one Arab delegate commented.

A steady stream of delegates visited the conference press center, seeking confirmation of the Soviet decision to resume testing. "Unbelievable" and "impossible" were words most frequently used by Asian and African representatives when told that the report was correct.

Another 100,000 Doses of Polio Vaccine on Hand

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Health officials, armed today with an additional 100,000 doses of oral vaccine, continued their all-out attack on a polio outbreak in three Central New York counties.

Health officials estimated that 400,000 persons under 50 years of age lived in the affected area. They urge all persons 50 or younger to take the oral vaccine.

They said they requested, and received, an additional 100,000 doses of the newly licensed Sabin vaccine to supplement the original government allocation of 350,000 doses.

A clinic in a North Syracuse school dispensed the vaccine at that rate of 1,000 doses an hour during the nine hours it was open.

Each person received three drops of vaccine in distilled water on a plastic spoon. Babies under six months received five drops.

After the final day of clinics today, health officials planned a special clinic Friday in Syracuse for persons who have severe reactions to penicillin. The Sabin vaccine contains a small amount of penicillin, officials said.

U. N. Says Korean Reds Carry Out Attack on Post

PANMUNJOM, Korea — The U.N. command charged today that North Korea Communist soldiers attacked a South Korean guard post in the demilitarized zone last Friday, killing one soldied and wounded four others.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, senior U.N. delegate to the Military Armistice Commission, at meeting of the commission accused the communists of "an unwarranted, premediated teacherous attack."
